'Guilty' Returned In Beating Case

New Trial Will Be Asked In Jury Conviction Of Ice

A motion for a new trial will be filed by defense attorneys in Thursday's conviction of Chester Ice Jr. in the beating death of Charles J. Adams, 29.

Delmar T. O'Hara of Wellsville and James Allison of East Palestine, counsel for Ice, have until Monday to submit the action to Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

UPON receiving the motion, Judge Buzzard will set a date for a hearing to weigh its merits. If the motion should be over-ruled, the next recourse of the defense would be to appeal the verdict. Whether such action would follow has not yet been determined, O'Hara said. Ice was convicted Thursday afternoon by the jury at Lisbon of manslaughter in the first degree.

The maximum sentence he can receive is 1 to 20 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary. The hefty, 6-foot-4 28-year-old East Liverpool man currently is in the Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon in lieu of $7,500 bond.

"The bond was increased Thursday by Judge Buzzard following the jury's verdict of guilty. Before conviction, Ice was under $3,000 bond.

Ice displayed no apparent emotion Thursday when the jury returned its verdict at 4:05, after nearly three hours of deliberation.

THE CASE against Ice stemmed from a parking lot brawl Feb. 5 outside the Bar-X tavern on the Y. and O. Rd., in Madison Township. Ice reportedly engaged in an argument in the bar with Adams, 29, also of East Liverpool. The two then carried their argument outside, where a fistfight followed, with Adams dying later at City Hospital.

Among the chief witnesses for the state were the county coroner, Dr. William Koloszi, and Dr. J. Keith Rugh, physician-surgeon at City Hospital, who testified that Adams died of asphyxiation due to asphyxiation, or inhaled, blood.

Other witnesses for the state included Ice's companion the night of Feb. 5, patrons of the Bar-X Tavern, the operator of the tavern and Mrs. Barbara Adams, widow of the fight victim.

The defense presented no witnesses.

Astronauts Rest In Hawaii

Probe Continues In Flight Failure

HONOLULU (AP) — Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott rested in Hawaii today as U.S. scientists probed into why Gemini 8 gyrated wildly in space, forcing the flight to be cut short.

The homeward-bound astronauts, returning by jet plane, paused in Honolulu briefly after a flight from Okinawa.

Scientists centered their attention on what happened when a radio command was sent to turn on a tape recorder in the Agena satellite to which Gemini 8 was docked.

While docked, Gemini 8 started tumbling crazily and Armstrong, the command pilot, had to fight for control.

After successfully backing away from Agena and the splashdown, the astronauts were plucked from the Pacific Ocean by a destroyer and taken to Okinawa.

Showing no ill effects, they ran down the gangplank of the destroyer USS Leonard F. Mason in blue navy hospital robes.

Despite the hair-raising termination of the flight and their emergency splashdown, they were pronounced in excellent shape. Their only problem was some seasickness while the capsule bobbed around for nearly three hours, waiting for the destroyer.

They were expected to remain here about 10 hours before continuing in an Air Force C135 transport jet to Cape Kennedy, Fla.

On their arrival in Hawaii, Rear Adm. Henry S. Persons, who commanded the Pacific Recovery Force, placed red carnation leis around the necks of Armstrong and Scott.

Before they left Hickam for a rest at Tripler Army Hospital, Armstrong and Scott were greeted by another astronaut, Air Force Col. Frank Borman. Walter M. Schirra Jr., a Navy captain who had been with Borman in Hawaii, flew to Okinawa and made the return trip with the pair.

A crowd of some 150 newsmen and 100 Air Force members waited the jet's arrival in Hawaii.

Armstrong and Scott were due at Cape Kennedy Saturday morning for three days of extensive flight debriefings that may shed some light on the trouble that caused the first emergency landing in the U.S. man in space program.

Several hundred U.S. servicemen and their wives stood in a light rain at the military dock in Naha, Okinawa, to cheer as the astronauts stepped jauntily, smiling and shaved from the destroyer. But a doctor from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration quickly ordered them back on board for a thorough physical examination.

He said later they passed the checkup with flying colors. Schirra said Armstrong and Scott were in "sound physical shape with no ill effects from the space flight or from the motion of the water" after they landed.

As they waited for the destroyer, the astronauts and the three Air Force pararescue men who had attached the flotation collar to the capsule all became seasick, Schirra reported.

"It is only fair to say that the Gemini is a fine spacecraft but a lousy boat," Schirra added.

Schirra said in a statement issued after the departure that they were taking back to Cape Kennedy all the equipment "for review and debriefing. This includes our on-board film and our on-board data from the mission."

The blackened, scorched Gemini 8 capsule remained on the deck of the destroyer under a protective cover. The Navy was to package it and ship it back to the United States in a few days so NASA officials can give it a close inspection.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration Thursday played to newsmen tape recordings of the conversations between the astronauts and the ground. They covered the critical three-hour 20-minute period from the moment the ground learned of the trouble to the start of the re-entry to earth.

Treasury Set To Seek Debt Limit Boost

$334 Billion Will Be Record. Touch Off More Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department expects to ask Congress in May to raise the legal ceiling on the national debt again — possibly to a record $334 billion.

The request, even if it doesn't go that high, is certain to touch off another round of criticism on the rising debt, deficit financing and federal spending. It usually does.

Unless Congress acts — and it always has in the past — the debt ceiling will drop on July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year, to its permanent level of $285 billion.

The present temporary one-year ceiling is $328 billion but the actual debt is about $4 billion less than that — $323.7 billion as of the close of business March 14. The Treasury, however, says it can handle the debt more efficiently if it has a little operating room.

Actually, no one knows for certain just what would happen if Congress refused to accept any extension in the temporary ceiling and permitted the legal limit to drop to $285 billion.

Congress always has gone along with the Treasury's request although it has sometimes given the administration less of an increase than was sought. The Treasury last year requested, for example, an increase to $329 billion but got $1 billion less. Failure to act could, of

Blazes Char 60 Acres In County Areas

Grass, brush and forest fires burned off some 60 acres in western Columbiana County Thursday, firemen and forestry officials reported.

About 10 acres of woodland were charred on a hillside along the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. overlooking Beaver Creek, Charles Heffner, forest fire aide, said today.

Firemen from Calcutta, Glenmoor, Liverpool East and Liverpool West departments, along with Heffner, battled the blaze from about 1 to late in the afternoon. It was brought under control about 3 p.m.

The forestry plane flew over the area and rendered assistance.

Rogers and Negley firemen were summoned to a grass, brush and forest fire which burned over 50 acres along the Rogers - Clarkson Rd. four miles southeast of Rogers, late in the afternoon.

The blaze was opposite the home of Clyde Welsh. Officials said a 16-year-old youth—Billy Gaydos—became ill from smoke while aiding at the fire.

Rogers firemen were called to a brush fire which broke out along Route 7 near the Kim Crawford home two miles south of the village at 2 p.m. About two acres were burned.

Heffner said the job of observer at the fire tower at West Point is available for any woman who can qualify. Anyone interested may notify him at LE 2-3170.

Pope Eases Restrictions About Mixed Marriages

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI today lifted the excommunication of Roman Catholics married outside their church and abolished the mixed marriage pledge by non-Catholics to raise children in the church.

These were among historic changes ordered in a long-awaited papal document on mixed marriages of Roman Catholics and persons of other beliefs. The changes, vastly significant for Christian unity efforts:

—Lift the penalty of excommunication for Catholics who marry before a non-Catholic minister, both in the future and retroactively for couples already married.

—Wipe out the requirement that a non-Catholic make written promises to have children baptized and educated as Catholics, put the responsibility on the Catholic spouse instead and invite the non-Catholic to promise to respect the Catholic partner's duty.

The 1,500-word Latin document retained the Roman Catholic Church's position that marriage between Catholics, or between a Catholic and a non-Catholic is valid only if performed before a Catholic priest. The document, entitled "matrimonii sacramentum" — the sacrament of matrimony — came just four days before Anglican Archbishop Michael Ramsey of Canterbury, the spiritual head of the Church of England, makes a historic official visit to Pope Paul.

U.S. Forces Penetrating Cong Sector

Enemy Dead Raised To 335 In 11th Day Of D Zone Fighting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. forces pushed deeper into Communist-dominated jungles north and south of Saigon today almost without challenge from the Viet Cong. An infantry spearhead found a huge store of abandoned radio equipment.

The discovery of another 20 bodies by U.S. and Australian troops on the 11th day of Operation Silver City raised the total enemy dead in the allied invasion of the Communist D zone 35 miles north of Saigon to 335. Communists killed, a spokesman announced. Most of the casualties were attributed to air and artillery fire.

The 25th Infantry Division, sweeping 25 miles southwest of Saigon, skirmished briefly with the Communists, killing one Red, capturing eight and seizing six tons of rice. The Hawaii-trained division's five-day-old Operation Honolulu has accounted for 11 Viet Cong dead, 14 captured, and the destruction of 18 sampans, 18 bunkers and three tunnels, the spokesman said.

While the Viet Cong mostly stayed out of the way of the troops on the offensive, they were active on the terrorist front.

A Viet Cong mine killed 15 rice farmers in the coastal lowlands near Tuy Hoa, 235 miles northeast of Saigon, where U.S. and South Korean forces have made repeated sweeps to protect the rice harvest.

The 20 pounds of TNT went off as the farmers were riding on bicycles and motor scooters along a country road to pick up some rice, a U.S. spokesman said.

U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots flew 47 missions over North Viet Nam Thursday, reporting attacks on roads northwest of Thanh Hoa, bridges north of Vinh, and other roads leading to the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos. A fuel storage area at Tuan Tuong also was reported set afire.

Air Force bombers hit several Viet Cong areas in the delta south of Saigon and reported 17 secondary explosions, indicating either fuel or ammunition was set off.

Near Phong Dien, 15 miles northeast of the northern city of Hue, about 300 guerrillas attacked an encampment of 120 Vietnamese soldiers during the night, but the outnumbered defenders beat them off and killed 50 Reds, a government spokesman reported.

A U.S. military spokesman announced that allied forces killed 1,224 Viet Cong during the week of March 6-12, while American and South Vietnamese losses totaled 281 — 100 Americans and 131 South Vietnamese killed, and 8 Americans and 42 Vietnamese missing. There were 808 Americans wounded, the spokesman said.

4 More Days To Register

To be eligible to vote in East Liverpool at the May 3 primary election, you must register with the County Election Board at 129 W. 6th St. if:

You haven't voted at a primary, general or special election in the last two years; you've changed your name by marriage or court action; you've changed your residence since the last election; you've become 21 since the last election or will be 21 on or before Nov. 8, the general election date.

A new resident is qualified to vote after he has resided in Ohio for a year and in Columbiana County and his precinct 40 days prior to Election Day. East Liverpool is the only community in the county where voter registration is required.

Registration Ends March 23

Navy Begins Job To Raise H-Bomb

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — U.S. Navy expert at dawn today began the delicate job of raising the lost American H-bomb from the Mediterranean floor after a midjet submarine's pictures indicated it had been found.

The two-man sub Alvin on Wednesday photographed what official sources said was "undoubtedly" the bomb five miles off the southern coast of Spain and 2,500 feet below the surface.

Using the sub's mechanical arms, the Alvin's crew was expected to try to attach cables to the bomb so the powerful crane aboard the LSD Fort Snelling could lift it slowly to the surface. Officials said it might take as much as three days for Rear Adm. William Guest's Task Force 65 to bring the deadly device up from the depths.

Reliable sources said the bomb lay on the slope of a 70-foot hillock, exposed to strong currents which some feared could sweep it into a new location.

The nuclear weapon, missing since the crash of a B52 bomber on the Spanish coast two months ago, was reported apparently intact — indicating no lethal radioactive leakage in the water.

The Alvin's underwater camera photographed an object partly shrouded in a gray parachute, and official sources said there was no doubt it was the bomb. The B52's bombs had been equipped with chutes of that color, in contrast to the white chutes worn by crewmen.

U.S. officials said no pictures would be permitted of the bomb, its parachute or recovery operations because of the highly secret nature of the weapon.

The bomb was one of four aboard the B52 when it collided with a jet tanker from which it was refueling over the southern Spanish Coast last Jan. 17. Seven of the 11 men aboard the two planes were killed; four survivors were pulled from the sea.

Three of the bombs were recovered on shore. One of the Spanish fishermen who rescued the survivors reported he saw "a funny gray parachute with half a man hanging from it" fall into the sea.

The 16-ton submarine Alvin was one of three such deep-diving vessels used in the 120-square-mile sea search that has cost millions of dollars and occupied thousands of men.

U.S. officials said none of the bombs were armed and all had elaborate safety devices to prevent accidental detonation. But Spanish officials have disclosed that 2,000 residents of the coastal area were exposed to a slight danger of radiation.

LBJ Hopeful For European Trip In 1966

Puts Thought Aside At Present Due To NATO Uncertainty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is reported hopeful of making a trip to Europe when relations among the Western allies shake down, perhaps later this year.

For the time being, however, he is said to have put aside all thought of planning such a trip because of uncertainties in the Western Alliance.

These uncertainties arise from French President Charles de Gaulle's decision to pull French troops out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization,

Jefferson Board Acts

Stanton Local Included In Consolidation Survey

A detailed study of a proposed consolidation of Stanton Local, Jefferson Union and Springfield school districts has been authorized by the Jefferson County Board of Education.

At a meeting Wednesday night the board approved plans to study the consolidation proposal, which has been considered for some time.

County Supt. Norman Sommers said the board agreed to proceed with the review of the plans for a consolidation—which he referred to as "possible and probable."

Advantages of such a move would be extension of the tax base over a larger area, provision of special services and teacher operations not now possible in the three districts and other factors.

Local Group Makes Case For Centers

Community College Delegation Pushes For Lisbon School

BULLETIN
The Ohio Board of Regents early this afternoon agreed to take under consideration proposals for a community college or enlargement of the Kent State University Academic Center program for Columbiana County. The hearing, which began at 11:45 a.m., ended at 12:25 p.m.

By BYRON EELLS
The Ohio Board of Regents at Columbus late this morning began hearing conflicting proposals for either a community college or a Kent State University Academic Center program for Columbiana County.

Proponents for the Community College, to be located in the Lisbon area, and the Kent program, based on centers already operating at Salem and East Liverpool, were to present their cases to the board headed by John Marshall Briley of Toledo, chairman.

Members of the advisory committee of the East Liverpool Kent Center at the hearing were Frank A. Dawson, who spearheaded a drive to establish the center here; Postmaster Samuel W. Brown and Harry D. McConville, members of the East Liverpool Board of education, and School Supt. Paul Blair.

Kent President Attends
Dr. Robert White, president of Kent, headed a delegation from the university, which included Dr. William Stephens, dean of the academic centers, and Leslie Speir.

Representing the proposed Community College were Lisbon School Supt. Oliver Payne, chairman of the trustees; Dr. Richard Whalen, director of planning for the college; Wellsville School Supt. Lowell Myers, a trustee, and County School Supt. James McBride.

Prior to the start of the hearings, the board approved a $55,500,000 allocation for technical institutes, community colleges and university branches throughout Ohio.

None of the money allocated this morning was designated for Columbiana County use.

Mahoning Group Heard First
Delegations from Mahoning County were heard prior to presentations from the Columbiana County groups.

The board sat at a long table in the high-ceilinged first floor room of the Ohio Department Building at 65 S. Front St.

Earlier this week, Dr. Millett indicated a decision by the board concerning the county proposals probably would not be made for some time, adding it could be announced prior to the April meeting of the board.
The Kent Center was launched here last fall after Dawson and other area leaders interested in a higher education program for area students otherwise unable to attend college invited KSU officials to establish a branch.
The Board of Regents then approved the establishment of the branch. The center now has 240 students in both day and night classes.
The Salem Center was founded in 1962 and now has 150 students attending classes at Salem Senior High School.
Whatever type of program will be offered, the decision will be on an "either-or" basis, Dr. Millett said earlier this week.
The former president of Miami University pointed out the county could not maintain both the KSU academic centers and a community college because of the limited financial aid available.

Pope

Catholic partner in a mixed marriage is known to be one of the matters the archbishop wants to discuss with the pontiff. Dr. Ramsey has said he intends to talk about "practical matters which can hurt feelings and consciences."
The papal document was issued in Latin as an official instruction by the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, the former Holy Office.
One important change allows a non-Catholic minister to take part in the wedding of a Catholic and a non-Catholic before a Roman Catholic priest. The minister will be able to give the couple his blessing after they have exchanged their marriage vows.
Common prayer also will be allowed at the ceremony, with the priest, the minister and the newlyweds praying together.
The instruction lifts the penalty of excommunication for a Catholic who marries a non-Catholic before anyone but a Roman Catholic priest. The cutting away of excommunication in such cases is retroactive, the document said, covering marriages already performed as well as such marriages in the future.
A third major provision will henceforth put the responsibility for baptizing and educating children as Roman Catholics on the Catholic spouse. Church law has been that the non-Catholic in a mixed marriage must make a written promise about the children.
The changes decreed today in the 1,500-word document said "a guarantee will be requested through an explicit promise by the Catholic spouse. . . . The non-Catholic spouse should be invited to promise openly and sincerely that he will create no obstacle to the fulfillment of that duty (by his or her Catholic partner)."
The instruction said the changes will be incorporated into the church's code of Canon law, now undergoing a lengthy process of revision, if they receive "positive support as time goes on. The changes become effective at once, however, on an experimental basis."

Marine Hurt As Gun Fires In Wellsville

A 19-year-old Wellsville Marine was in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with a bullet wound of the left foot suffered in a rifle mishap at his home this morning.
Pvt. William Howard Lowery of 231 1/2 Main St., Wellsville, received a .22 caliber bullet wound of the top of the left foot at the home about 9:50 a.m., Wellsville police said.
The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lowery, was apparently working with a rifle when it discharged, officers said.
He is on leave en route to assignment in California.

course, force the Treasury to halt all borrowing immediately and probably would mean default on some obligations within several weeks.
The formal request is expected to be transmitted to Congress between May 1 and 15 and at the hearings to follow Treasury officials also expect to discuss the 4.25 per cent ceiling on government bonds which mature in five or more years.
Democratic members of the Senate-House Economic Committee earlier this week said it would be a serious mistake to remove this long-standing ceiling. But Republican committee members disagreed, and said lifting of the 4.25 per cent ceiling would permit what they called noninflationary, long-term government financing at lower interest rates than are now possible through short-term notes.
Series E and H bonds, the type sold to the public, are subject to the 4.25 per cent limit. Last month the government raised the rate on series E and H bonds from 3.75 to 4.15 per cent.
Under a formula devised by former Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, the department estimated the temporary debt ceiling it would need for its operations by adding the existing ceiling and the expected budget deficit for that year.
Since the budget for the fiscal year which ends June 30 is expected to show a deficit of about $6 billion, the Treasury would request raising the ceiling to $334 billion under the Dillon formula.
The lowest the debt has been since World War I was about $16 billion at the end of 1930. It was $72.4 billion in 1942, jumped steadily during World War II and reached $252 billion in 1946. It dropped to $252 billion by 1948 but has climbed gradually since because of continuing budget deficits.
Rainfall in Saigon averages 78 inches annually, with 67 inches occurring in a 6-month period from May to October.

put an end to U.S. bases in France, and require removal of NATO military headquarters from France.
U.S. officials report that De Gaulle has not given them any time schedule, but French officials have been quoted as saying he wants to carry out his program this year.
If Johnson goes to Europe this year it probably will be in late summer or fall. He apparently has thought of the trip as a goodwill mission for strengthening allied ties.
The President met with top aides on the NATO question Thursday night. The White House gave out no details on the session.
Listed at the meeting were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary George W. Ball, John M. Levy, assistant secretary for European affairs, and Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance.
Also on hand were Charles E. Bohlen and Dean Acheson, the White House said. Bohlen, U.S. ambassador to France, was called back to Washington for the current consultations. Acheson, former secretary of state under President Harry S. Truman, has been working as an adviser on the NATO question.

Complications Plus Complications

Ever since the unhappy mess of the Ngo Dinh Diem assassination in November 1963, South Viet Nam's bristling religious war has been carried on more quietly but no less persistently. If another government overthrow occurs as the result of current agitation against the U.S.-backed regime headed by Nguyen Cao Ky, the war will flame up again in a form that censorship and restraint will be unable to control.

Backers of the current agitation are Buddhists, the religious majority in South Viet Nam. They are attacking the present regime for the same reason they attacked Ngo when he was premier — animosity against a governing order they accuse of being dominated by Catholics. Their specific target is Nguyen Van Thieu, South Viet Nam's chief of state.

There is no settlement, of course, for a holy war. It is a conflict of anger and passion, in-initely harder to cope with than ordinary conflicts over routine jealousies, ambitions, hatreds and fears.

All the complications the United States has had to deal with in the course of intervening in an ideological conflict in Southeast Asia are as nothing compared with the complications that attend religious wars anywhere.

As a reminder of the magnitude of the potential complications, there are more than 161 million Buddhists in Asia, most of them presumably in sympathy with their fellow Buddhists in South Viet Nam. There are more than 42 million Roman Catholics, but in South Viet Nam the Buddhists are a noisy, determined majority. If they succeed in toppling still another government supported by the United States, they could be as hard to handle as the ideological enemy.

Ohio Has A State Song

If the next session of the Ohio General Assembly wants to do something about a state song, it should adopt officially "Beautiful Ohio" and settle the matter then and there.

"Beautiful Ohio" is a familiar tune throughout the United States, with the possible exception of Hawaii and Alaska. Though it honors the river, not the state, it is like that ever-popular classic, "The September Song," which brings tears to the eyes of sentimentalists every September.

Anyone who has listened closely to the lyrics, of course, knows that the song has nothing to do with the seasons of the year but is concerned only with the passage of time in a man's life. But who cares about that?

Songs are what people think they are. Some of the memorable tunes that people sing and whistle developed connotations that never were intended. What does it matter that Americans sing "America" to the tune of an English drinking song, which also serves nicely as Britain's national anthem?

What would it matter if generations of Ohio were to choke up and turn wet-eyed at the sound of the opening strains of "Beautiful Ohio"? "Drifting with the current down the moonlit stream . . ."

Ah yes. Beautiful Ohio. It is said that nearly all states have state songs. So be it. Who wants to bet the only state song that would be recognizable throughout the nation is "Beautiful Ohio," which never has been adopted officially?

Why Time Isn't Uniform

Ohio's delegation in the U.S. House of Representatives voted 17-7 against a proposal to enforce uniform time in time zones, or in states if they chose to be independent of time zones.

The Buckeye representatives know what the issue in Ohio has been and will continue to be. The area usually referred to as "northeastern Ohio" is geared to the economy of Pittsburgh and New York City and must operate on Daylight Saving Time in the daylight months.

The parts of Ohio geared to the economy of Detroit and Chicago will stay on Standard Time. There simply is no way to enforce a uniform time rule in the Eastern Time Zone, much less in the state of Ohio. The problem has been aggravated, moreover, by the fact western Ohio borders the Central Time Zone. Legislators are bothered because time variations are contrary to law. Under Ohio law, the official state time is Eastern Standard, with no legal exceptions. That is why court-house clocks and all legal procedures are on Eastern Standard Time.

For obvious reasons, railroads, airlines, bus lines and their users would like to get rid of double standards. What they are hoping to do is force nationwide observance of Daylight Saving Time during the six daylight months. It would be nice if they could do it. But that 17-7 vote of the Ohio delegation in the House of Representatives is a fair quotation of the odds against it.

Apropos Of Breezy And Blacky

The New Yorker Magazine originated an amusing feature headed "Things We Do & Don't Ever Happened."

The magazine's editors found an endless supply of improbable accounts of events and circumstances to keep the feature going.

Herewith is an account of something we doubt ever happened. Incidentally, our latest entry under this same heading was the account of a Russian space shot that made a soft landing on the planet Venus. We doubted that ever happened and lately the Russians have been doubting it, too.

But about those two Russian dogs, Blacky and Breezy, that were 22 days in orbit, skimming through outer space in an orbit ranging from 116 to 562 miles above the earth—

It is reported that both dogs were "in good condition after landing."

A landing in Soviet space exploration means dropping the space capsule after re-entry on a plowed field—a landing technique so risky that the United States hasn't even considered trying it.

This country's space explorers come down in the ocean.

Two dogs aloft for 22 days with no means of rationalizing their experience and no means of taking care of themselves according to schedule. Two dogs with no spoken directions to follow to minimize panic and shock.

In good condition?

Somebody has to be kidding.

Another Year, Another Riot

Watts, the Los Angeles Negro ghetto, has had its first riot of 1966.

When the Watts riot had simmered down last August, a state commission submitted an official report to the governor of California.

It said 34 persons had been killed, 1,032 injured, 3,952 arrested and $40 million in damages had been caused, with 200 buildings totally destroyed and 600 severely damaged.

Most of what the commission reported was hopeful advice — hopeful because no one really believed the cause of the riot could be eliminated by building schools, hospitals, appointing more Negroes to the police force, improving transportation and stimulating employment. These things would be helpful in the long run. In the short run, they would be meaningless.

"What happened," the commission said in one significant passage, "was an explosion — a formless, quite senseless, all but hopeless violent protest — engaged in by a few but bringing great distress to all."

There has been another explosion in Watts. Only two deaths were caused this time, but the year is young. The oppressive heat blamed for last August's trouble has not yet begun.

The violent minority that ran amuck last summer is still a source of potential violence. There was no outside influence, no prearranged disorder last summer, the commission reported — only a formless, senseless explosion involving perhaps two per cent of the Watts Negroes.

There was nothing prearranged this time. There didn't need to be. The trouble is waiting. All it needs is an excuse.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Like my friend Will Roger used to say, "All I know is what I read in the papers."

My friend Will Rogers? I speak of him that way because he seemed to be everybody's friend. He said what everybody wanted to say in a way everybody could understand. He was a communicator, Will was.

When he said he got his information from the papers, he was hitting the mark. That is where all information came from in his day. It's where most information comes from today. People who tell me they get all their information from radio and television should think twice about that.

What they get from radio and television is only one kind of information — the kind that does not depend on detail. For example, if there has been an explosion, you can get the news about the explosion, via radio and TV, but if you want the names of the victims you have to read them.

If you want the text of a statement, you must get it by eye, not by ear. And that brings me to the exciting thing I have run across — an official decision by the state commissioner of education in New York that public school authorities cannot compel students to dress a certain way if there is reasonable justification for their dressing some other way.

The commissioner made this ruling in the case of an 18-year-old girl whose mother told her to wear slacks to school on a cold day. The girl had been ill, and her mother was taking precaution. But even though the slacks were of routine design and apparently the girl was, too, the principal of the school sent the girl home because she had broken a rule against wearing slacks to school.

That did it.

Before the feathers settled, the New York commissioner of education had dug up three U.S. Supreme Court decisions restraining school authorities from encroaching on pupils' rights in matters of dress.

The point now has been made and nailed down as far as New York school authorities are concerned that they cannot make arbitrary rules about dress and back them up with arbitrary decisions. Rules and decisions must be reasonable. They must consider all circumstances.

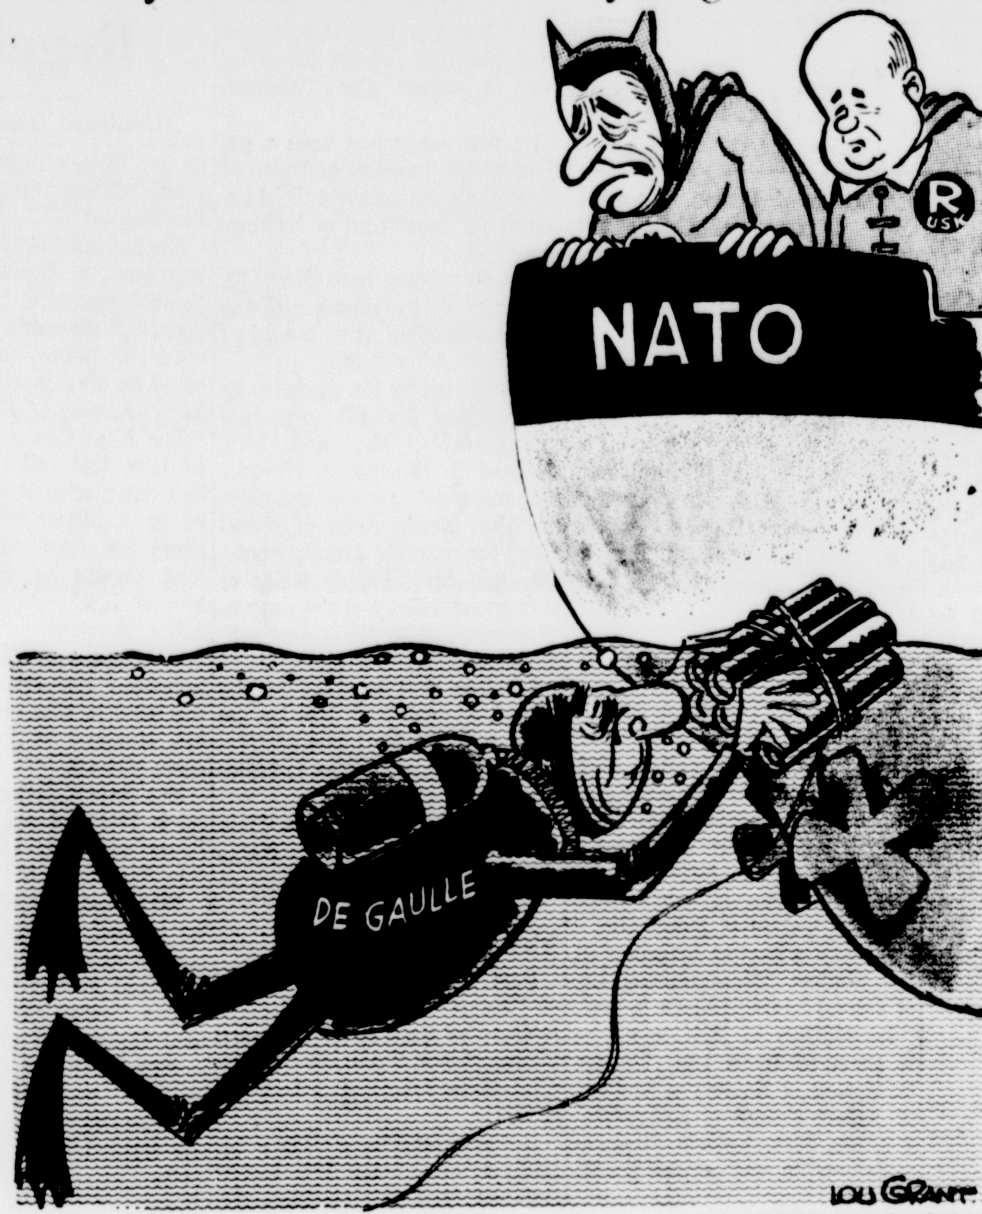

A precedent like this might well be taken to heart by school authorities in general. It could keep them out of the ridiculous binds they get into when they make too-hasty decisions about one of the most sensitive problems of human affairs — personal appearance.

If a child's mother and father can dress to suit themselves, the child has reasonable latitude of choice, too. He is not a ward of the state just because he is enrolled in a public school.

Your sweet old auntie says a sweet old hello to you and the rest of the family.

Showdown Seen On $54 Raise

By Victor Riesel

For several weeks some erudite presidential advisers, in the true fashion of their erstwhile, cloistered university halls, had invited a belligerent, high button shoes era labor leader in for a dialogue.

The would-be hosts were the members of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Three times they had asked the union chief, truly truculent Peter Weber, president and business manager of Operating Engineers Local 825, to come in and discuss a new wage contract his union had signed. The advisers thought it rather high.

The contract, covering road, highway and bridge construction, had won a $40-a-week raise during the first year. And after a while another $14 is to be added.

Thus the increase for a 40-hour-week would be $54 per man.

This is merely a raise in wages!

EACH OF THE THREE invitations were ignored, though Mr. Weber should have known—and there is no reason to believe that he did not know—that President Johnson wanted the dialogue to be held.

Finally, on the fourth contact, Mr. Weber agreed to come in. This is vital because his union has jurisdiction over northern New Jersey and sections of New York and thus sets the pace for construction wage increases for the entire land.

He did. On the afternoon of Thursday, March 10, he arrived, flanked by a lawyer, an aide and his national union president.

As a result of that meeting the government now plans to zero in on him. This is the test case. It will decide whether a regional union organization is tougher than presidential advisers—who now have a direct assist from the White House itself.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS of Room 312, Executive Office Building, Mr. Weber's message to the Council of Economic Advisers was, in effect, you fellows just don't understand.

Mr. Weber did not say this in a quiet voice. He shouted. He waved his arms. He was obstreperous. He came as close as one could to using abusive language.

Most of his noise was directed at Gardner Ackley, Chairman of the Council. Mr. Ackley tried to explain the wage guidelines. He pointed out that a total wage increase of $1.35 an hour (65 cents of which was retroactive to last July 1) was high. It could be inflationary. After all, $54-a-week increase even over three years was a bit much.

Could this contract be reopened, asked Mr. Ackley.

Said Mr. Weber (who draws $39,000 annually in salary and expenses), you just don't understand.

THE NEW JERSEY Operating Engineers, those who run the bulldozers, the big cranes and shovels, don't work the year 'round. They have many problems. No, the contract could not be reopened.

After an hour and a half, Weber and his mostly silent colleagues left the economic fellows.

What disturbs the Council is the probability that this contract will be used as a base and pattern for building and construction labor-management contracts which open up this spring and summer.

There are scores of them. They cover men working on billions of dollars worth of public and private construction.

They advised President Johnson. They examined their "arsenal of weapons." One of these is to withhold contracts which the Commerce Department's Bureau of Public Roads was about to award in the area.

These come to $200 million. The odds are that the government just won't finance the building of roads in the area, except those for which it already has contracted.

Thus the union will have priced itself out of additional public funds; the 74 construction companies in the Associated General Contractors of New Jersey will suffer loss of profits; jobs will be cut, and the region will have to go along without additional public works.

This is the showdown case. All eyes should be on it.

Rich Green

The most popular shade of ink in the United States is the rich green used on currency.

Manufactured to a secret formula, the ink has to resist fading, abrasion and chemicals. It must have absolutely true color and just the right consistency for the painstaking process of printing money.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington recently started to use another special ink — a luminescent coating for the 23 billion or so postage stamps it prints every year.

The stamps glow under ultra violet light from new mail-handling machines. Sensing the ink, the devices will face all envelopes in the same direction and cancel 30,000 of them an hour.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is as exacting as Wei Tan, a third-century Chinese inkman, who reputedly beat the ingredients in his ink 30,000 times. Among other things, Wei Tan's recipe called for an ounce of pearls and a half-ounce of musk. The musk masked the unpleasant odor. The pearls probably were thrown in for show.

Chinese and Egyptians concocted the first known inks around 2,500 B.C., the National Geographic Society says. They consisted of lampblack blended with a solution of glue or gums. The mixture was molded into sticks or cakes and dried. It was mixed with water before use.

This 'n That

The branding of cattle for identification purposes was practiced at least as early as the year 2,000 B.C. in the Orient.

The Trukish baths, as we know them today, are not Turkish in origin, nor are they baths. They are hot-air rooms and originated in ancient Rome.

Price Control?

By David Lawrence

It May Be The Next Step

Hardly anybody want to see wages or prices controlled by the government, and the administration feels that it can manage the economy without taking such a step. Nevertheless it may prove to be the only way to prevent the economic strain in the United States from getting worse.

The American people have experienced wage-and-price control three times—in World War I and World War II and during the Korean War. Up to now it has been assumed that the Viet Nam War wouldn't have a big enough repercussion to require such controls. With the maintenance, however, of a large military expedition in Southeast Asia and the substantial increases in appropriations being made by Congress and more in prospect for war purposes, a serious economic squeeze is currently developing.

Already the stock market is reflecting the uncertainties that have arisen due to the war situation as well as the economic expansion which preceded it.

There are differences of opinion as to how dangerous the present inflationary trend is going to be, and hopes are expressed in official circles that restraints still can be applied without formal controls.

WHILE THE ADMINISTRATION has been relying on "voluntary" restraints on both wages and prices, no formula has yet been advanced that has proved effective.

The so-called "guideposts" or "guidelines" for wages and prices have been repeatedly transgressed by both management and labor. Only this week George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, urged union leaders in the electrical industry to ignore the 3.2 per cent "guidepost" for pay increases which has been recommended by President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers.

Concurrently, price rises have appeared in several categories, and the administration seems to be powerless to prevent them. This is the kind of situation that could lead to congressional action.

The administration, of course, may first seek an agreement between management and labor to establish an informal council to pass judgment on wage and price increases. This would be an extension of the informal arrangements which have hitherto been left either to the President or to the secretary of labor to handle.

The problem is getting further complicated, and a board of some kind would have to be set up to deal with the question if inflation is to be slowed down.

THE IDEA that the federal government can use its influence by giving advice to industry and labor still prevails, but all such voluntary programs in the past have not been adequate and have usually been superseded eventually by legislation.

The problem of interest rates is at the moment the most acute. There is a scarcity of money, and yet there is a bigger and bigger demand for loans. The administration has just put through a tax bill which will result in more income to the Treasury to cover costs of the Viet Nam War, but there is no sign that this alone will be adequate. A general rise in income tax rates may come after the November elections.

With wage - and - price controls, an excess-profits tax usually is passed. The government at the moment, however, is not so much interested in cutting down profits as in preserving the purchasing power of the dollar. If prices continue to go up, wage levels would have to be substantially increased all along the line. Incidentally, passage of a bill to increase the minimum wage, which President Johnson has promised labor, will cause many wage scales above the minimum to be shoved upwards.

THE WHOLE SITUATION indicates that a serious upheaval on the economic side can hardly be avoided without direct controls. If the Viet Nam War were to come to an abrupt end, some of the restrictive measures might be avoided, but predictions generally are that the Southeast Asia situation will continue to require large military expenditures by the United States for at least a year or two.

While the administration will be reluctant to recommend wage - and - price controls, it may find itself forced to do so anyway if the inflationary trend is not soon reversed.

Summitville Council OK's '66 Fund Bill

SUMMITVILLE — The annual appropriation ordinance of $7,850 — an increase of $270 over 1965 — was approved by Council at a meeting Thursday night.

Council also authorized a $25-a-month wage increase for Marshal Forrest Young, setting his wages at $60, retroactive to Jan. 1.

The legislators appointed Young of Salineville R.D. 1 as marshal, elevating him from deputy marshal as the result of a recent state law which permits a non-village resident to serve as marshal.

Mayor Ernest Phillips outlined the summer street blacktopping and sealing program.

Oiling is planned for Shale St., a seal coat for Oak St., W. Summit St., part of Nittany Dr., a section of 3rd St. and a section of Township Rd. 846 in the south part of the village.

The mayor said he will meet with the commissioners and engineer concerning the program.

Bills paid totaled $212. Councilman Robert Carter was absent.

The next meeting will be April 21.

Following the Council meeting, the Civic Improvement League met and discussed construction of a pavilion in the southwest area of the village. The 30-by-60 building would be used for picnics, meetings and the annual homecoming.

The homecoming will be held June 23-25, with a firemen's parade June 24. Dean Dowdell, president, announced the Merco Industries will provide amusement rides.

Five Are Indicted In White Slavery

Four district men and an Indiana woman have been indicted by a federal grand jury at Cleveland for alleged white slavery operations.

Charged with transporting females across state lines for immoral purposes were Michael John Groff, 23, of Warren; his brother, John Michael Groff, 24, of Salem; Michael Kufchak, 23, of Youngstown; Robert Holbrook 34, of Steubenville, and Hazel Betty Antrim, 45, of Muncie, Ind.

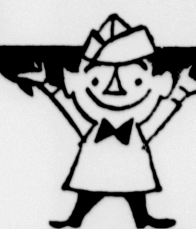

Asst. U. S. Atty. Nathaniel Jones said the indictments resulted from a six-month FBI investigation of alleged white slavery operations.

Stroke Patients Assisted

Foot support frames for hospitalized stroke patients have been presented to City Hospital and Osteopathic Hospital as part of the Heart Association's free stroke rehabilitation program.

Mrs. Margaret Violand, a representative of the Heart Association, which serves Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull Counties, demonstrates how the device works to Miss Nell Robinson, superintendent of City Hospital, and Mrs. Mary Ellen Johnston representing Dr. John W. Hayes of Osteopathic Hospital. The braces, designed to eliminate "foot drop" and outward rotation of the leg of a stroke victim, will be presented to all hospitals in the tri-county area, Miss Violand said.

The foot brace consists of a steel frame and "surgery sock" adapted to fasten to the frame and washable padding. There is no interference with circulation.

The Heart Association developed the frames which are being manufactured by Goodwill Industries.

The free stroke rehabilitation includes instruction in physical therapy for families of victims and speech therapy for patients. The speech therapy is conducted by students seeking Master's degrees in speech at Kent State University and is financed by a grant from the Heart Association.

Club Honors Senior Group

A tribute to the East Liverpool Senior Citizens organization was paid by the Kiwanis Club during its meeting Thursday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Speakers at the program arranged by Les Blumenthal were Ollie Campbell, president of the Senior Citizens; Mrs. Daisy McCain, supervisor, and the Rev. D. Ross Salisbury of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, where the group meets each Thursday.

Campbell traced the history of the local group, which was formed in 1961 under the guidance of the Rev. Carl Beighley of the Calvary Methodist Church.

Meetings were held at the Calvary Church, the YMCA, the VFW post home and finally St. Stephen's church.

Mrs. McCain, a charter member, explained some of the projects which the group has undertaken, including crafts, trips by bus, dances, a choir, skits and a kitchen band.

She said the members look forward to the weekly meetings and the projects, which currently include formation of a bowling league. She said the program helps meet a need for elderly residents of the area. There are some 300 members at present, she added.

Ernest Lowe sang "Young at Heart." He was accompanied by his wife.

The club, on a motion by the education committee, approved a resolution sent by telegram to the Ohio Board of Regents urging broadening of the Kent State University Academic Centers in East Liverpool and Salem in preference to creation of a community college.

Dave Kennedy announced the club's pancake supper will be held April 23.

3 District Students Receive OSU Degrees

Two students from Columbiana County and one from Jefferson County received diplomas this morning during winter commencement exercises at Ohio State University, Columbus.

They are Richard B. Prior of Leetonia, bachelor of arts; David H. Wilson, of Negley, master of science, and William D. Campbell of Toronto, bachelor of science degree.

Scholars To Make Quiet Study

What Makes Crime Tick?

WASHINGTON (AP) — They're turning the scholars loose on the Cosa Nostra.

No gunplay. No television lights. Senate committees, or Joe Valachi-type informers. Very little drama.

It's just a quiet but determined effort by the National Crime Commission to find out what makes organized crime tick — and how best to jam the works through law enforcement.

"The public just doesn't believe what it hears about organized crime," says Henry S. (Hank) Ruth, the Crime Commission's youthful deputy director. "It's a make-believe world that doesn't really affect them. We're trying to put some order into the picture and make it meaningful."

"We know from the press who the big names are big cities. But that's just the surface. What makes it 'organized'? Is it really a private government of its own? What are its strengths and weaknesses as a business entity? And of course, how do we get at it effectively?"

To seek the answers in time for the commission's January 1967 report to President Johnson, the commission is calling on Dean Donald R. Cressey of the University of California at Santa Barbara, described by Ruth as "an expert on organization."

Cressey's mission is to put into a sociological context the phenomenon of organized crime and "to analyze the problem in calm, intellectual, academic and unemotional terms." The commission will provide material.

Ruth and an associate will tour those few cities and states that have set aside special police units to combat organized crime — whether it's called locally the Syndicate, the Mafia, the Cosa Nostra or the Black Hand.

"In setting this up," Ruth reports, "we discovered just how few cities are devoting their money and manpower exclusively to organized crime. We'll have to think of a way to change that."

One of the key problems of his task force, as Ruth sees it, is that of "the compliant victim."

"Many of the things organized crime deals with are things a segment of the general public really wants," he said. "To gamble, for instance, or to patronize a prostitute, or borrow at high rates when they can't borrow from a bank."

"We'll have to suggest alternatives so that a man won't be limited to visiting a Syndicate loan shark when he needs money for his business. Without making any moral judgments, we'll have to discuss the desirability of legalizing some aspects of gambling."

The commission staff also will tackle the problem of corruption of public officials. To what extent does organized crime depend on a public official's cooperation? What happens to a city when corruption eats at its political process? For the answers, the commission may pick out a city where such corruption has been proved and eliminated and make a before-and-after comparison.

Boosters Set 2 Activities At Wellsville

Plans for two annual high school activities sponsored by the Omni Boosters Club of Wellsville were outlined during a meeting Wednesday night in the high school.

The post-prom party will be held April 29 at the all-purpose room of MacDonald school, with Mrs. Frances Farina and Mrs. Betty Cataldo in charge. Benny and His Keynotes will provide the music, with theme "Beach Party."

The Junior Class will do the decorating, which will include a hut as the entrance to the room and a big umbrella in the center, with streamers extending. The club will serve the lunch. Approximately 220 are expected to attend.

From samples of favors made by Jack Glover, the group selected a Tiger head with a "W" on a pedestal.

A college coach will be the speaker for the all-sports banquet May 5 in the First Methodist Church. The dinner will be open to the public.

Blanks Available At Post Offices On Medicare Aid

Application blanks for supplemental medicare benefits are available at the stamp windows in area post offices.

The blanks were made available as the Social Security Administration seeks to contact more than 3 million people over 65 before the March 31 deadline. Those who fail to enroll for supplementary benefits by the deadline face a two-year delay before they again can enroll.

The supplemental program costs $3 a month and provides doctor's fees and other benefits. Everyone over 65 is eligible for the basic hospital benefits under medicare.

The Social Security Administration already has contacted 16 of the 19 million who will be 75 or older on July 1. Of the 16 million reached, less than 1 million said they did not want to sign up for the supplemental benefits.

Exams Will Be Held For Highway Posts

Wayne Ward, director of the Department of State Personnel, today announced open-competitive civil service examinations for highway workers and highway inspectors on April 13 and 14.

The examinations are open to citizens who are residents of Ohio and who meet the qualifications set forth in the examination announcement.

This announcement and the necessary application forms may be obtained from any Ohio State Employment Service Office, any county auditor, the Department of State Personnel, Ohio Departments Building, Columbus, Ohio 43215, or from its Cleveland District Office, 118 St. Clair Ave., N.E., Cleveland, Ohio 44114.

The tests are to be given in Ashland, Bowling Green, Cadiz, Chillicothe, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Dover, Lima, Marietta, Newark, Ravenna and Sidney.

Completed applications are to be sent to the Department of State Personnel, Columbus, and must be postmarked by March 25 to be accepted for this examination program.

Changes Listed By H. K. Porter

Three employees of the Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co. will have their offices at Wellsville under personnel changes announced at Pittsburgh by J. A. Pierce, division vice president and general manager.

Lawson Mason, chief ceramic engineer for the McLain Works the last 16 years, has been named manager, quality control, for all 12 refractories plants.

G. V. Ward, formerly assigned to general engineering duties, will become ceramic engineer for the six McLain plants.

Thomas Nelson will assume additional duties in raw material procurement while continuing as laboratory supervisor.

Pierce said the changes are part of the division's continuing program to streamline procedures.

Navigator Killed, Pilot Injured In Bomber Mishap

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — An Air Force B57 jet bomber skidded to a flaming stop short of frame houses on a suburban road Thursday. The aircraft's navigator was killed and the captain-pilot was seriously injured.

The bomber failed on takeoff at nearby Selfridge Air Force Base, tore from a runway into soggy ground and burst into flames. It never got off the ground and burned within base fences.

Officials at Stewart AFB at

Navigator Killed, Pilot Injured In Bomber Mishap

Newburgh, N.Y., identified the dead flyer as 1st Lt. Earl Boggs, 25, of Tulsa, Okla., a father of four sons, the oldest 7. His widow, Betty J., also survives.

Stewart said the seriously burned pilot was Capt. David W. Evans, 38, of New Kensington, Pa., who joined the Air Force in 1946. His wife and three children live at Newburgh.

The plane was not operational as a bomber, a Selfridge spokesman said, adding that the crash cause would be determined by a board of inquiry.

Midland Club Hears Giusti

Joseph F. Giusti of Brighton Township, director of the Beaver Campus of Pennsylvania University, discussed "The Purpose of Off-Campus Schools" at a meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday night at the Riviera Club.

Giusti pointed out that Pennsylvania now has 20 off-state campus schools that are serving communities all over the state. He explained that such schools "open the door" for more students to enter college and that students usually enroll for two years at the off-campus school and then complete their education at Penn State. This eases the strain on the student load at the university, he declared.

Giusti remarked that the number of points needed to enroll at off-campus schools is much fewer than the number required on the PSU campus. One thousand points are needed to enroll at PSU, while only 700 are required at off-state campus schools, he said.

The club voted to donate $100 to the Dollars for Scholars program. Joe Jonas was program chairman.

Dan Cilli, a student at Western Beaver High School, received a desk plaque as a gift from the club. Dan was chosen to attend the meetings to become familiar with Rotary procedures.

Calvin Sowers, industrial engineer at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., will discuss astronomy and show slides when the club meets next Thursday at 6:15 p. m. at the Riviera Club. Dr. Edward Gronceski will be program chairman.

Health Board Delays Consolidation Decision

Because two members were absent, the Board of Health delayed a final decision at its meeting Thursday night in City Hall relative to consolidation of the local and county departments.

Members said a special session will be held in the near future to discuss the matter.

Because of what it termed "faulty samples," the board ordered a Canton dairy to rectify the situation or face revocation of its permit to distribute here.

The action followed a monthly report by Sanitarian Ben Weber, who pointed to "15 faulty checks of 17 samples taken" of milk from the Superior Dairy of Canton. Superior milk is bottled for the St. Clair Dairy, which operates here, Weber said.

The board authorized that a letter be sent to both the Canton and St. Clair firms calling for remedial action and cautioned that legal steps will be taken if necessary.

Weber's report included 124 investigations of various complaints and the issue of 29 farm dairy permits.

Jack Bonner, acting health commissioner, reported 119 inspections during the month. An air sample report for the month was discussed. Tests were taken on Feb. 3 and 12.

The sampling network, of which East Liverpool is a part, checks for air pollutant concentrations by measuring particles in micrograms, per cubic meters of air.

Mrs. Louella Beavan, registrar of vital statistics, reported 86 births in the city (50 males and 36 females) for the period of Feb. 17-March 17.

For the same period, Mrs. Beavan reported 44 deaths — 20 men and 24 women.

City Nurse Selma Ladzinski reported 144 visitations and cases investigated. She also inspected seven area nursing homes with officials of the state health department.

She was authorized to attend a medicare seminar at the Holiday Inn in Youngstown on March 29. The seminar is being conducted by the Division of Nursing of the state health department.

Salaries amounted to $1,835 for the month and other expenses $177. Payment was authorized.

Members attending the meeting were Dr. J. K. Rugh, who presided, C. Frank Dales and Paul Zehnder.

The next regular meeting will be April 21.

Hunt Being Pressed For Bank Burglars

POMEROY, Ohio (AP)—The FBI and other authorities continued their search today for burglars who broke down a makeshift door at a fire-damaged bank and looted a safe of about $22,000.

The break-in occurred early Thursday at the First National Bank of Racine which was nearly destroyed by fire last Feb. 4.

The bank recently moved back into its regular building from temporary headquarters it had occupied since the fire. The outside door was made of plywood and was to be replaced as repairs progressed.

Soldier Penalized $15 After Dresden Crash

Pvt. Charles E. Davis Jr. of 1935 Dresden Ave., a soldier on furlough after duty in Germany, was fined $15 and costs today in Municipal Court on a reckless driving charge filed following a Dresden Ave. traffic mishap Thursday morning.

Davis pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. He said he is spending a 14-day leave at home, scheduled to return to duty Saturday. Police said a car he was driving veered off Dresden Ave. and struck a parked auto owned by Shirley A. McCuen of 1106 Dresden Ave.

Meanwhile, Edgar V. Hull Jr., 24, of 711 Sophia St. forfeited a $32.50 bond on a charge he crashed a traffic light at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. at 2:29 this morning.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

All persons connected to the sanitary sewer system of the City of East Liverpool are requested to phone the sewer department at 386-5525 when they first experience any sanitary sewer difficulties. This request is being made so the sewer department can determine whether the City's sewer mains are at fault. In the event that the City Mains are not obstructed, the person having the difficulty will be so notified, so they can call a responsible plumber to rectify their troubles. The City is responsible only for the main line and the property owner is responsible for the lateral extending from the main sewer to the property. Your cooperation in this matter is respectfully requested.

In the event a plumber is called first to correct troubles in the sewer, the City must disallow any claims against the department.

Ser. 689
(C) Cellar floor drainage and fixtures installed in cellars made at the owner's risk of damage may be discharged into sanitary sewers when properly trapped against back pressure.

Three directors and a committee member were elected at a business meeting which followed the annual dinner of the CSAM Federal Credit Union Thursday night at the Crucible Management Dining Room. Attendance totaled 107.

John Cataldo, F. G. Wilton and Joseph Hibbard were elected directors and Cyril A. Kuhn was named a committee member.

Guests included Joe Scalise, general superintendent of labor relations for the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.; George Shaw, publisher of The Review; Michael Judge, executive manager of the Pennsylvania Credit Union League.

Frank Summers, president of the Pennsylvania Credit Union League; Gilbert Golletti, president of the Beaver Valley Chapter of Credit Unions; John Strand, assistant manager of the Midland Works, and Paul London, vice - president and general manager of the Beaver Valley Times.

Summers, Judge and Scalise spoke briefly. Entertainment was provided by "The Four Guys" from station WEIR in Weirton.

The Credit Union will reorganize at a meeting Monday afternoon at its office.

Court Penalizes Man Following Fight With Police

A 32 - year - old Cumberland (Md.) man was penalized on two counts today in Municipal Court as an aftermath of a battle with police who asked him to leave a downtown tavern early this morning.

Harold J. Layman was fined $10 and costs on an intoxication charge and given a suspended fine of $25 on a charge of "abusing and resisting police officers in the lawful execution of their duties." The judge ordered Layman to leave East Liverpool "quickly."

Patrolman Howard E. Frontz testified he and Patrolman K. J. Montgomery were dispatched to the Dan-D-Bar at Washington St. and Broadway on a report a man was "causing a disturbance." He said they found Layman seated in a booth, but he refused repeated orders to leave.

Frontz said Layman struggled with the two officers on the sidewalk and also put up a battle while en route to jail. Patrolmen Ronald Brookes and J. W. Buckley later assisted in the arrest.

Layman told the court he was released from a Veterans Administration hospital a few days ago after a seven-month stay.

Manos Auction Set

LISBON — All furnishings other than real estate will be sold at an auction March 25 at 1 p.m. at the Manos Theater here to satisfy delinquent tax claims, it was reported today at the office of Vincent C. Judge, Columbiana County treasurer.

Outdoors Club Gets Ready To Buy Property

Discussion of purchasing property highlighted the meeting of the Penn Woods Outdoors Club at Tates Garage on McLeary Rd., near Hookstown, Thursday night.

Each club member is to inquire into possible property for sale and report at the next meeting.

It also was decided to seek the advice relative to incorporating. The purpose of the club "is to promote cooperation and understanding between farmers and sportsmen and to improve game management and protect wildlife."

Six new members have been enrolled. They are Richard L. Morgan, Theodore Belich and Milton Hixenbaugh, all of Aliquippa; Harold Lewis of Chester, Joseph Hixenbaugh of Beaver and John Allison of Georgetown.

A ham shoot will be sponsored Sunday at the Raccoon Township fire hall on Patterson Rd. from noon until dark. Free coffee and doughnuts will be served.

The next meeting will be April 21 at Tates Garage.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY
Rules For The Jerk

Nervous parents of teen-ager (there are no other kind) won't believe this, but a great many restrictions are placed on TV dance shows where the kids indulge in suggestive calisthenic gyrations known by such names as the Jerk, Watusi and Boston Monkey.

At least a Hal Humphrey show known as "Where the Action Is." I am told, is better supervised than a church picnic. My informant is Steve Ciro, a young exponent of all modern dance crazes, who would Hully-Gully than eat.

STEVE choreographs the action on "Where the Action Is," the five-times-a-week show on ABC, and also heads up the eight regular dancers on it. He and the show's director were given a list of "don'ts" by the network's continuity acceptance department which reads like the agenda from a joint meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and Daughters of the American Revolution.

If all the things on this list actually were obeyed to the letter, "Where the Action Is" couldn't even make it as a training film for a phys ed teacher at the YMCA.

"Avoid questionable dance steps, such as shimmies and splits," says the ABC censor.

"I FELT awfully frustrated at first about that one," says Steve, "but then I discovered we could do a front or side shimmy. ABC really only objected to the shimmy when you did it with your backside to the camera."

Flesh-tone bathing suits or leotards are out, as are levis, sweaters and blouses if worn too tightly. There also is a line in the ABC dictum which puts the taboo on "dry-splitting, karate chops and mishandling of food," which gives you an idea how rough things could get if networks adopted a laissez-faire policy toward these teenage shows.

The 21-year-old Steve has even become a convert to most of the "don'ts" and even subjected himself to an overhaul in appearance as well as some of his dancing.

"I HAD TO, or I wouldn't have the job. When I first auditioned with my partner, Joy, they took her and not me because I looked too Italian or something. They said they wanted 'the-boy-next-door' type. I told them I was the boy next door in Brooklyn where I lived, but that didn't seem to mean anything to them," says Steve.

After the first 13 weeks of "Where the Action Is," ex-partner Joy prevailed upon the show's executive producer, Rosalind Ross, to give Steve another chance. She asked if he would consider blonding his hair, trimming his eyebrows and getting a short haircut.

To get on TV regularly Steve would have turned himself into the hunchback of Notre Dame. He trimmed the eyebrows, got the haircut, then was given a reprieve on the blonding.

THAT WAS nearly a year ago, and there seems to be a genuine recognition on ABC's part that Steve may now be the boy next door — at least on some blocks. He's convinced the network and the producer that a dance like the Jerk is "simply a ballet step with a different feeling."

"You know what the trouble is? Most parents of teen-agers aren't old enough to remember the Charleston, Big Apple and Black Bottom," says Steve who has studied old film clips of these roaring '20s dances.

"Those dances were much more suggestive than anything we do today," he adds, almost puritanically. "I have adults come up to me after they've watched us dance and ask, 'What are you doing?' And I wished I could say to them, 'Remember what you were doing when you were a kid?' But then I realize they were too young to remember the '20s. It's too bad."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lynnda Johnson has arrived in Los Angeles to spend her 22nd birthday in Hollywood as the guest of actor George Hamilton, her most frequent escort lately.

Hamilton—26, dark haired and handsome—invited the President's elder daughter to join him and his mother at their home in Beverly Hills as a special birthday present. He was at the airport Thursday night to meet Miss Johnson. Hamilton was her guest at the LBJ Ranch in Texas last weekend.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kathryn Knotts, who charged that her husband's behavior made her upset and nervous, won a divorce in Los Angeles Thursday from Don Knotts, the actor who achieved fame as a nervous sidekick of Steve Allen.

The wife testified that the comedian, 41, stayed out at night and sometimes was gone for two or three days at a time. The husband agreed to a settlement of $250,000 based on his salary of $180,000 a year.

The couple, who has two children, was married in Wheeling, W.Va., in 1947.

LONDON (AP) — Singer Dick Haymes gets married for the sixth time today—but it's only to clear up the legal tangles caused by his divorce from his fourth wife.

He will marry in a civil ceremony his fifth wife, Wendy Smith.

Haymes had divorced singer Fran Jefferies, his fourth wife, in Mexico, then married Miss Smith, 28, in January 1965. But neither British or Irish—Haymes' home—recognized the divorce or the marriage.

Now American divorce papers recognized by the two countries have come through and the civil ceremony is to set everything straight.

Haymes, 48, a native of Argentina, has been married to actresses Rita Hayworth, Joanne Dru and Nora Eddington.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI was awarded the Papacy's highest decoration to Italian President Giuseppe Saragat.

The decoration is the Supreme Order of Christ, which is reserved for Roman Catholic chiefs of state in recognition of deeds for the defense and welfare of the papacy.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Child's Eating Habits Are Important

Perhaps more than a third of the children of the world are so hungry most of the time that they eagerly eat what they can get to eat.

Even in the affluent U.S.A. there are children glad to eat whatever is offered to them. But there also are many children in Dr. Garry Myers' nation who refuse to eat one or several foods prepared for them. Yet, as a rule, the mothers of these children provide them with nutritious foods and well-balanced diets. When a child rarely or never eats of all or most of the foods prepared for him, he doesn't consume an adequate diet. If he is finicky over food at four, six or ten, he may continue to be finicky all the rest of his life.

YOU WANT your child to eat some of everything you prepare for him because you want him to consume a balanced diet including all the nutritious elements necessary for his best growth and physical development. You also want him to acquire eating habits which will demand no extra work or worry from you or other persons.

If you constantly must prepare for your child five, ten or fifteen, extra foods not already prepared for his family, you can see the hardship in effort and cost involved. If he leaves the family board at mealtime and prepares some special food for himself, consider what family confusion may ensue.

If at ten or sixteen, he is invited out as a dinner guest, how ungracious to his hostess if he declines to eat of most or all the foods she has prepared. Also when he dines with other children at a public eating place they may consider his food dislikes and whims as queer. Learning to eat of practically all foods is a desirable moral and social achievement.

YOU MOTHERS who read this column are aware of the foregoing. Fortunately you may have cultivated enjoyment of all essential foods in your child during his early years. If, by the time he begins eating with the family, he eats enjoyably of practically all the foods on the table he is far on the way to such eating enjoyments the rest of his lifetime.

But for some reasons he may later acquire some food whims and dislikes. And if he has been a finicky eater up to then he may grow more in this direction.

Suppose your child seven, nine or twelve were a finicky eater. For years you may have lectured him at mealtime on his need to eat of all the foods offered; sometimes in an angry, scolding voice, you may have commanded him to eat of certain foods. Putting on his plate what you think he should have you may have made him remain at the table till his plate was cleared. You may have prepared certain substitutes for him on his demand. You may have let him leave the table to find or prepare some food of his choice.

SUPPOSE you consider the following ways to encourage your child to eat:

Resolve to quit talking about his food dislikes. Don't tell him he must eat of any special food or more of it. All the adults should educate themselves to eat of all the foods on the family board. Persuade this child to eat a small bit so long as it is visible of every food at the table. Let him tell you how little of each food to serve him or let him serve himself.

Refuse to prepare at a mealtime, on his demand, a special food for him. Don't let him leave the table to prepare it for himself. Let him choose between what is offered and nothing. If you are sure he is eating too much of a few foods like bread, potatoes and gravy, you might limit the amount. You might also limit or prevent his consumption of sweets and other foods between meals.

In other words, you might exercise some control of what he may eat. At any age it's far easier to keep undesirable foods from children than to require them to eat desirable ones. They need to get hungry.

My bulletins "Eating Problems: Their Prevention and Solution I & II" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Three Elderly Men

Killed In Canton Fire

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Two elderly men were killed in a fire that swept through the United Hotel on U. S. 30 early today. Damage was estimated at $12,000.

Fourteen other residents were evacuated safely from the three-story structure which is five blocks east of Canton's City Square.

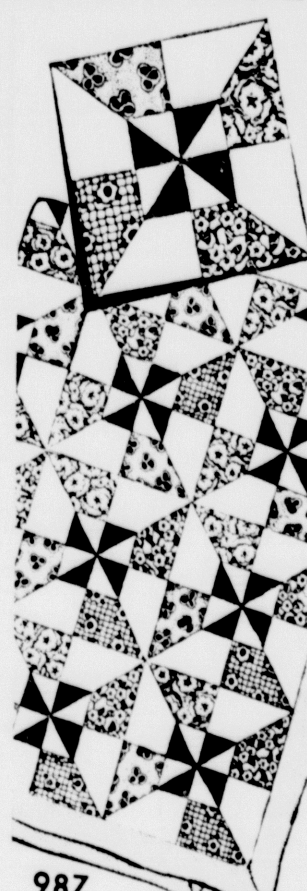

Police identified the victims as James Boley, 57, and Chris Vagonas, 75.

Firemen said the fire was discovered around 2 a.m. near a second-floor reception desk and then flashed through the halls and stairways.

Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Police said most residents of the hotel were older people who made the hotel their home.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: My wife, a cosmetologist, says that I should use mineral oil on my hair, that it's the best hair tonic that she knows of.

Possible? Probable? Please try to find out, and give us your results.

HENRY THE FIRST.

Not only possible, but also PROBABLE.

So, go kiss your wife! I met an executive of one of the largest manufacturers of hair tonics . . . he told me that many hair tonics are made mainly of a true, good grade mineral oil!

True, it has scent in it, but, have you ever tried smelling mineral oil? I smelled no odor, so why not give it a try?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I cook a large roast or a ham, I slice some, put plastic wrap between the slices, and freeze. Then I can take out as many or as few slices as I need at any time (and quickly!) because they never stick together.

READER.

DEAR HELLO-EASE: I found a new way to add a sweet smell to clothes. I made my own sachet bag. I took two facial tissues and crumpled one up, then put it on the other one and sprinkled some of my favorite scented powder on it. Gathering the ends of the open tissues, I tied them with ribbon.

EUREKA! Instant sachet bag. Put it in a drawer, and clothes become and stay . . . sweet smelling.

BARBARA BROWN, AGE 12.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: If your dog won't take pills, put a dab of peanut butter on a very small piece of bread, and press the pill into the peanut butter.

Be sure, though, that the dog likes peanut butter!

BEVERLY SANFORD.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to add something to your suggestions for removing grease from clothes that have been washed and ironed.

Sometimes we miss spattered grease, and find it only when our iron runs over it. I sprinkle white talcum powder over the grease spot on the material, rub it lightly with my finger, and let it set a while. Then I shake the garment or brush it out, and it's ready to wear.

The talcum works very well in place of chalk for removing grease from men's shirt collars BEFORE washing.

MRS. JOHN CROCKER.

You are right, hon. I always leave mine overnight before washing, when powder is used.

Some women put white talcum on grease spots, place a piece of material over it, use a hot iron for a second or two, then brush the powder out.

This works beautifully, too. The heat from the iron allows the powder to absorb the oil.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Ordinarily I use sandpaper to clean my chopping board, as it's natural wood. I tried the nylon net to see of that would work, and it surely did.

I rinsed the net with water and squeezed it as dry as possible. It removed all the spots that a chopping board collects and left the board smooth and clean.

I guess there's no end to nylon net wonders!

MRS. L. J.

DEAR HELOISE: When making belts, I use three or four thicknesses of nylon net (rather than belting).

HAZEL B.

New Beauty Center Here Due To Open On April 1

Opening of the new Jo Anne Maria Beauty Center in the lower lobby of the Inn Town Motel on E. 3rd St. is scheduled for April 1. Jo Anne Armus and Marian Zelasko, the co-owners announced today.

In addition to the latest in hair styles and wigs, the center will feature a health club, Sauna baths and a charm clinic.

The health club will be under the supervision of Bonnie Pierce and will present the latest in health equipment, the co-owners said.

Steam for the Sauna bath, adapted from the Finns, will be created by pouring water on hot granite stones, which produce up to 225 degrees. The walls will be of Canadian cedar, with wooden benches on varied levels. Private dressing rooms and lockers will be provided.

The charm clinic will be supervised by Darlene Taylor, a professional model and a graduate of the John Robert Powers school.

A summer garden effect will feature the decor, with flowering velvet-flocked wall covering, French chateau tile flooring and green carpeting.

A feature of the salon will be a massage and massage pedicure.

There will be ample free parking, Mrs. Armus said.

The co-owners will continue to operate their present styling center on W. 5th St.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average 10-14 degrees above normal during the five-day period Saturday morning through Wednesday night. Representative normals highs and lows are Cleveland 46-28, Columbus 50-31 and Cincinnati 54-34. Cooler over the weekend, very warm again Monday through Wednesday. Precipitation will average near .1 inch melted as a few showers late Saturday or early Sunday possibly mixed with snow flurries northern sections and probably some widely scattered showers again about midweek.

Firemen, Police Give Assistance As Baby Chokes

Both firemen and police were summoned to aid a 2-week-old infant who began to choke Thursday night as its mother was feeding it from a bottle.

Firemen Ed Greenwood and Ralph Woods were dispatched from the nearby East End Station when Mrs. Leland McGill of the Valley Trailer Court reported the emergency to Central Station about 7. Chief Alfred VanDyne also responded.

The firemen cleared the baby's windpipe and administered oxygen. Mrs. McGill said the youngster began to choke and "turned blue" while she was feeding him. Meanwhile, police were notified and Patrolman Karl Samples was dispatched in a cruiser.

When the officer arrived, he was told the baby had recovered, but as he began to drive back to the station, he was notified the infant was choking again. Samples returned to the trailer court and picked up the child, his mother and Fireman Woods. The child was checked and released at City Hospital.

$75,000 Loss Set In Blaze At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A general alarm fire roared through a block-long warehouse early today on Pittsburgh's North Side causing an estimated $75,000 to $85,000 damage.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than two hours before bringing it under control. No injuries were reported.

The blaze broke out shortly before midnight in the four-story brick building occupied by four business firms in the Spring Hill section. Within an hour the fire broke through the roof which later caved in.

Deputy Fire Chief William Martin, who estimated damages, said his men were able to confine the fire to the building. Six families were evacuated from nearby homes that were doused with water to prevent the fire from spreading.

The building is occupied by the Stearns and Foster Co., a mattress firm; First Upholstery Co., Pitt Upholstery Co. and the F. and K. Aluminum products Co.

Martin said firemen were hampered by mattresses stored against windows. The blaze is believed to have started on the first floor and spread through an elevator shaft to the upper floors after smoldering for some time, he said.

Fire equipment and police from all sections of the city responded to the general or six-alarm fire.

1 Killed, 2 Injured In Pennsylvania Crash

BLAIRSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — An Indiana County woman died and two other persons were seriously injured in a two-car collision Thursday night on Route 119, about six miles from here.

The dead woman, Mrs. Henrietta Dallas, 51, of Homer City, was a passenger in an auto driven by Mrs. Ada Lyda, 77, of Black Link, authorities reported.

Police said Mrs. Lyda's auto went over a 30 foot embankment after the collision.

Both Mrs. Lyda and the other driver, John R. Platt, 24, of Blairsville, were hospitalized.

'Challenge Of Change'

Graduates Of OSU Hear Puerto Rico's Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The governor of Puerto Rico said today the Joint Commission currently discussing his country's political future, has the opportunity of recommending a plebiscite, as well as recognizing that "Commonwealth status has the attributes of equal political dignity."

Gov. Roberto Sanchez Vilella applied his "challenge of change" speech to Ohio State University graduates, as well as to his own people. He addressed 870 students receiving degrees at winter commencement ceremonies.

The governor also received an honorary Doctor of Laws Degree from his alma mater. He was graduated with an engineering degree in 1934.

Much of his address today was concerned with the political future of his country, but he told the students:

"I come to make you aware. You must be ready . . . my advice to you today (is) . . . step up to the times; but better still, step ahead of the times. Be always ready for drastic, dramatic change. Be ready for the world to change; and if it doesn't, be ready to change the world."

Of his own country, he said "The majority of us believe in Commonwealth status, created by compact, based on common United States citizenship, developed to the maximum that may be agreed upon between Congress and those of us that support it, and validated by the votes of our people."

He said "there are others who believe we should become a federated state of the Union or an independent Republic," and added:

"These three alternatives — or others similar to them, but always three—have been discussed for the last 100 years. They are now being discussed again in a joint commission created for that purpose by the Congress and our Legislature. The commission was empowered to study

Store Clerk Wounded In Fight With Bandit

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — A clerk was wounded in a brief gun battle late Thursday night by a bandit who robbed a grocery store near Mount Ararat and escaped in a car.

Frank Quisenberry, 55, was shot in the left shoulder. He was reported in good condition in a Cincinnati hospital.

Push button phoning comes to East Liverpool, Chester and Newell!

A touch of tomorrow . . . here today! East Liverpool, Chester and Newell residents whose telephone numbers begin with 385 (FU5), 386 (FU6) or 387 (EV7) now have the opportunity to enjoy TOUCH-TONE telephoning. Instead of spinning the telephone dial, you just push buttons for the number you want. The result is faster, easier calling. TOUCH-TONE telephones are available in several styles and colors.

You can have all existing telephones on your residence line changed to TOUCH-TONE phones in the same models you now have for an additional $1.50 per month (plus tax) and a one-time conversion charge of $5.00. And this includes your choice of decorator colors.

TOUCH-TONE service is available to most business customers at slightly higher rates. For charges applying to new residence installations or additional phones, ask your service representative. Call your Ohio Bell Business Office for the whole TOUCH-TONE story.

Regents Asked to Halt Plan Of Church-Affiliated Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Supreme Court may settle the question of such indirect aid to church-affiliated institutions.

Chancellor John Millett recommended today that the Ohio Board of Regents delay consideration of any plan to help church-affiliated universities build buildings.

But Millett recommended at a meeting of the regents that the board go ahead with plans to set up tuition grants to help students at such non-public colleges and universities.

Ohio's master plan for higher education proposed state assistance for both buildings and students at church-affiliated schools, but any funds to finance either of these programs still would have to be appropriated by the legislature.

Some have questioned the constitutionality of using state money to help church schools build facilities. Millett feels the proposed method of helping such schools would be constitutional but said he suggested the regents "simply postpone consideration" of the idea.

The plan suggested would be similar to that used to give state aid to Youngstown University, a private institution. Youngstown deeded part of its campus to the state, which is financing a building on that ground to be leased to the university for $1 a year. After 30 years, both land and building would revert to university ownership.

A case now before the U. S.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a very bright and promising young executive who works for a large company. We were transferred here five weeks ago.

The man who heads up this district is my husband's boss. He is an aging Romeo — suave, charming and he cheats on his wife left and right. I'm no moralist, nor do I feel the urge to tell other people how to live, but I find the old lecher's lack of propriety personally offensive.

The boss has invited us to join him for dinner several times since we moved to town. He brought his wife the first night and that was the last we saw of her. From then on it has been one cheap trollop after another.

Some of his girls look so trampy that I'm ashamed to be seen with them. Furthermore, they are dull. I'm fed up trying to make small talk with dumbbells while the men discuss business.

Do you feel it would hurt my husband's chances for advancement if I refused to go along on these dates? — EMM ARR.

Dear Emm Arr: If your husband's success hinges on your keeping the boss' bimbos company, he's not as bright and promising as you think. Make your position clear and stick to it.

Out-Tooted

Dear Ann: I'm a girl who soon will be 16 years old. I have been taking trumpet lessons for six years and I play very well. I enjoy playing in the school band but something is going on that is taking all the fun out of it. I need your advice.

A certain girl in the band who has been taking trumpet lessons for only two years has been getting all the solo passages that used to go to me. This is her first year in band and, please take my word for it, she plays a very mediocre trumpet.

She gets the solo passages now because she wears sweaters that are two sizes too small to begin with and then she shrinks them in hot water. The band leader likes that a lot.

I want to tell the principal what is going on. Believe me, Ann Landers, I'm no trouble maker. I just want to get what's coming to me. What is your advice? — RESENTFUL.

Dear Resentful: My advice is to keep quiet. If you go to the principal with that story you'll get what's coming to you, all right.

I can't imagine a place where a tight sweater counts less, and ability counts more, than in a band. Keep practicing and one of these days you may get the solo passages again.

Witless Widow

Dear Ann: I'm a widow, 46, self-supporting, with two grown sons. Three years ago I started to go with a very nice man I met through my employer. Bryce is 50 and never has married. He makes his home with his parents who are in their 70s. I never have met his parents because they are opposed to our relationship. They say Bryce should marry a woman who can give him a family.

I think it's time we got married or called it quits. I don't go with anyone else because he has asked me not to. Last night Bryce said if I loved him I would wait until his parents died. They are both in poor health. What do you say? — MRS. ? ?.

Dear Mrs.??: Bryce's suggestion that you wait around for his parents to die is an insult — not a proposal. Moreover, it's one of the oldest insults of all. Wake up, woman.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Americans bought about 9.3 million new automobiles in 1965, a record of more than a million units over the previously most successful year.

Fashion Show Will Assist In Scholar Fund

A display of spring fashions will be presented by the Glenmoor Women's Physical Fitness Class Monday at 7 p.m. at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. warehouse in Glenmoor.

Mrs. Nancy Wilson, president, said admission will be free and proceeds from orders taken at the show will be donated by the club to the "Dollars for Scholars" campaign. Refreshments will be served by the class.

The fashions will be furnished by Dutchmaid Creations and will be modeled by class members. Hats are being provided by Ash Millinery.

Plans for the show were advanced at the club's meeting Wednesday night at its quarters on the Y. & O. Rd.

The club also crowned Miss Sherry Howell and Mrs. Wilson as its queens for March. Miss Howell lost the most weight and Mrs. Wilson the most inches.

They were presented with tiaras, fruit baskets and shampoos and sets at the beauty shop of their choice.

Leaders Chosen For Scout Troop

Patrol leaders and their assistants were elected by Girl Scout Troop 60 during a meeting Tuesday night at Lincoln High School in Midland.

They include: Patrol 1, Camille Monac and Mary Catherine Master; Patrol 2, Maureen McGeehan and Michele Joseph; Patrol 3, Joyce Shovlin and Gloria Germusa; Patrol 4, Odette Francis and Regina Morrison.

Victoria Selepec was named treasurer and Beverly Marcum scribe. Mrs. Albert Masters is troop leader, with Mrs. Ivan Francis her assistant.

The scouts will take skating lessons at Melody Lanes in Hookstown for the next eight Saturdays from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. The troop leaders will accompany the girls.

Will Talk On Russia

HAMMONDSVILLE — Supt. C. P. Henderson will screen slides and review his trip to Russia during a meeting of the Parent - Teacher Association Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the elementary building. The public is invited. Final plans will be made for the school carnival April 23.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN
Shape Up As You Slim Down

"What is the best way for an overweight to reduce in certain spots? Will exercise really do the trick?" This question is a natural. Obviously nobody wants to swing into calisthenics if they are not spot reducing.

Regard exercise as restoring tone to the figure — control —

Ida Jean Kain, a slim, smiling woman, is the author of the book "Keep In Trim." She is a physical therapist and a personal trainer. She has helped many women achieve their ideal weight and maintain it.

Isometric contraction or calisthenics are certainly not the whole answer to our exercise requirements. In this tension-filled age we also need some joyous form of liberating exercise that uses the big muscles of the body. Pursue the kind of activity that enhances your feeling of well-being and you're on the healthy road to physical and mental fitness.

ON THE reducing score, calories are used generally, not from specific areas. But stimulating the circulation in the fat-padded spots is helpful. Then, too, as tone is restored to soft muscles the figure shapes up.

There is no use quibbling about it — exercise is needed. When you back up diet with specific exercise, you not only look better and feel better but you have more energy. With exercise you tone up as you slim down. When you cut calories drastically and shun all exercise, something bleak happens to your looks. And you feel joyless.

Many of you ask about isometric exercises, the kind that guarantee instant streamlines. The principle of isometric contraction is sound. By holding the contraction to a slow count of six, muscle tone is increased without added effort.

The newest research on isometrics proves that it is helpful to repeat the held contraction. Isometric exercises can be repeated five times, and taken twice daily. To make sure to breathe freely, count out loud. Never hold your breath while exercising.

EASY DOES IT. Let's try a contraction action. Stretching, followed by a sustained contraction for a few seconds and a slow release, is most effective.

A side-bend elongates the stretch, tones side boundary lines and increases flexibility.

Position: Lying on back on floor, arms down at sides, legs straight down.

Action: Stretch right arm back on floor beyond head as you lift right leg just slightly off floor and cross it over left.

Touch toes to the floor at left side and h-o-l-d. Perform with left leg and arm and repeat 3 to 5 times.

Cigarette Smuggling

Maryland, New York Suffer Major Revenue Losses

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Like a scene from a 1930 movie, a truck is waved down by police on an isolated highway and contraband worth thousands of dollars is confiscated.

But the scene is far from entertaining to Maryland and New York tax authorities, who say a booming multimillion-dollar business in untaxed, smuggled cigarettes bound for New York has caused major revenue losses.

Edward F. Englebert Jr., head of Maryland's Sales Tax Division, says running bootleg cigarettes, purchased for $1.85 a carton in North Carolina, has burgeoned into a "mammoth operation to rival the old days of Al Capone."

He says the tough types who drove the truck in the films have been replaced by mild-mannered novices — including women — who apparently have been assured that Maryland's misdemeanor law aimed at combatting such traffic is not stringent. Example: the first man convicted last month received a suspended sentence and a fine.

It began when New York raised its cigarette tax bringing the price of a pack to 45 cents in some places, much more than the price in North Carolina — or even Washington, D.C.

Since last summer, Maryland State Police and tax authorities have confiscated more than 50,000 cartons of cigarettes being hauled in everything from the largest tractor vans to private cars. And they estimate that this represents only a small percentage of total traffic.

Englebert pleaded with the current session of the Maryland Legislature to make Maryland's law tougher.

"It's beyond belief what's going on in this business," he told lawmakers. He said New York's loss last year was an estimated $25 million in taxes on smuggled cigarettes. He said some of the cigarettes are sold in Maryland, resulting in more than $750,000 in lost tax revenue.

There is no cigarette tax in North Carolina. And Englebert said most of the traffic comes from there.

Frustrated tax agents, working with Maryland State Police, now must spot some small traffic violation or other excuse to stop vehicles suspected of carrying northbound smokes.

Recent examples include a faulty muffler, no light shining on a license plate, a windshield wiper check, and other minor excuses.

The law prevents searching a closed van unless tax authorities have a "good reason" for suspecting contraband.

Englebert described the illicit traffic as "worse than prohibition" of the 1930s.

"The attitude today seems to be that a package of cigarettes is just a package of cigarettes," he said. "Who cares where it came from? But I tell you this is backed by organized crime — and it's getting bigger every day."

Englebert said North Carolina has no law to prevent such interstate traffic because there is no cigarette tax.

"They just don't care down there. Why should they? They manufacture most cigarettes; they make money; they don't care where they're going."

Conviction under present Maryland law could mean fine of $25 for each carton and up to five years of imprisonment for maximum sentence. But jurists have been reluctant to go this far. The law prohibits carrying more than one carton through the state or more than two packages into the state by a resident.

Lighter, Better For Jungle Fighting

U.S. And Other Troops In Viet Due New Rifles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of U.S. infantrymen and other troops in South Viet Nam will be relieved of heavier, long range rifles and given a lightweight weapon rated better for short range jungle fighting.

The Defense Department said today Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam, had requested this action to improve "tactical effectiveness through increased use of firepower at short ranges."

As a result of Westmoreland's request, 100,000 more M16 rifles are being manufactured to replace M14 rifles in the hands of many U. S. fighting men in Viet Nam and to supply South Vietnamese and South Korean troops there as well.

The M16, weighing about four pounds less than the M14 when fully loaded, has been distributed to paratroopers, Special Forces, and men serving with the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division.

But infantrymen in the 1st Infantry Division and other ground units have been carrying the M14 which some veterans of the jungle fighting contend is not as well suited for the Viet Nam war.

The Pentagon disclosed the replacement move when asked for elaboration of a statement by Dr. John S. Foster Jr., director of defense research and engineering.

Foster told Congress recently that "a decision to re-equip our combat units in Southeast Asia with M16 rifles has recently been made and production is under way."

The M16 fires a bullet only half as heavy as the M14 and is effective at a shorter maximum range than the M14.

However, the 16 has a much faster muzzle velocity which gives it considerable killing power at relatively short range. Advocates of the M16 contend that there are few opportunities in the Viet Nam war for firing at enemies over extended ranges but that the need is for a weapon that can kill close up.

The M4 can kill close up, but with its greater weight is much more of a burden to the infantrymen than is the smaller and lighter M16.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara recently said in congressional testimony that "I personally have been trying to introduce" the M16 "into the military services of this country for three years."

He said after returning from Viet Nam late last year "I put on order a large quantity of M16s because I thought they would prove effective and that they would be needed."

Only a few days later, McNamara said, he received a cable request from the Viet Nam command for more of the weapons.

"All the commanders suddenly decided they wanted large quantities of it," McNamara said.

"The production of the weapon and its ammunition must be rapidly expanded, and that is what is being done."

Push button phoning comes to East Liverpool, Chester and Newell!

A touch of tomorrow... here today! East Liverpool, Chester and Newell residents whose telephone numbers begin with 385 (FU5), 386 (FU6) or 387 (EV7) now have the opportunity to enjoy TOUCH-TONE telephoning. Instead of spinning the telephone dial, you just push buttons for the number you want. The result is faster, easier calling. TOUCH-TONE telephones are available in several styles and colors.

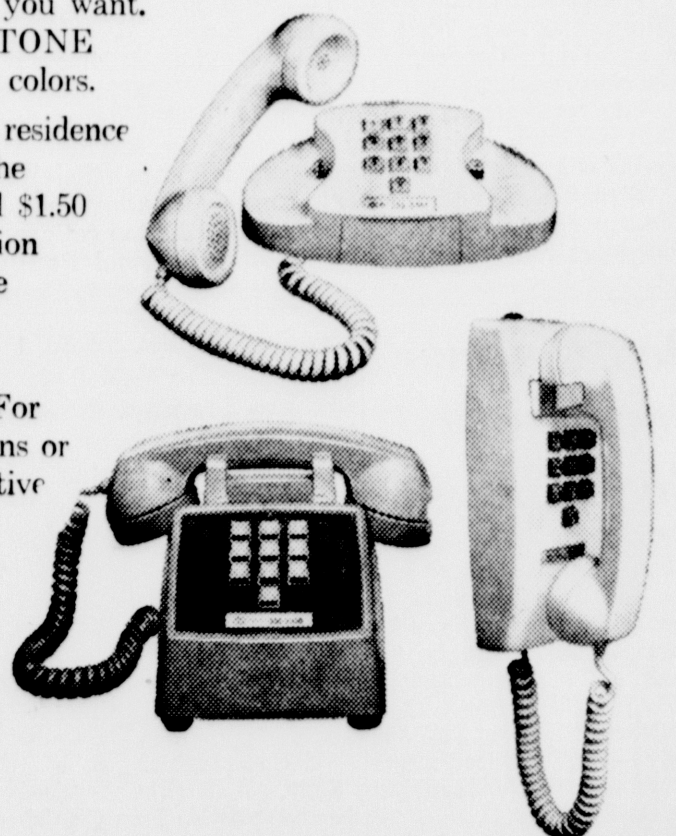

You can have all existing telephones on your residence line changed to TOUCH-TONE phones in the same models you now have for an additional $1.50 per month (plus tax) and a one-time conversion charge of $5.00. And this includes your choice of decorator colors.

TOUCH-TONE service is available to most business customers at slightly higher rates. For charges applying to new residence installations or additional phones, ask your service representative. Call your Ohio Bell Business Office for the whole TOUCH-TONE story.

Event Opens March 31

First Entries Are Received For Nonpareil Jr. Tourney

The first entries have been received for the Nonpareil Club Junior Tournament to be staged March 31-April 1-2 at Memorial Auditorium.

Dick Wolf, president, listed three Pennsylvania teams among the early arrivals.

The "Hambone Big 5" sponsored by Herb Klein of Squirrel Hill, Pa. lists Harry Brown of Conley Trade School who has a career point record of 1,016 and is currently the leading scorer in Pittsburgh high school circles.

Gip's All-Stars, coached by John Gipko has an array of talent including the Nelson Twins of Fox Chapel High School who both stand 6-7. Greg Howard a 6-11 caker from Fifth Ave.

The third entry is Corner Tavern of Sharon, Pa. which will be made up of players from Sharon, Mercer and West Middlesex varsity teams.

Wolf announced that all chair seats will be sold on a reserve seat basis for the final night. The advance sale will begin March 31. All seats are $1.00 with students tickets 50 cents.

New Tournament Set Here . . .

It appears East Liverpool will host two independent tournaments next month at Memorial Auditorium. The Tri-State Tournament, a 40-year-old event, was in doubt last week, but Thursday officials announced its dates for April 18, 19 and 20 — Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A new tournament, offering prize money to sponsors and which guarantees topnotch semi-pro and college talent, has applied for April 22 and 23 a Friday and Saturday.

The dates for both tournaments are subject to approval by the Board of Education.

Bob Wycoff, local sportsman connected with the new tournament, which is to be called "The East Liverpool Basketball Classic," said his committee applied for the dates after Tri-State tournament officials had indicated they would not hold a tourney this year.

The East Liverpool Classic will be an eight-team invitational open adult tournament, which means professional players can participate. Several players in the professional Eastern League already have been contacted.

Wycoff said, "we are attempting to give the public a good tournament and we already have our first entry."

The new tournament will give $300 to the winning sponsor, $150 to the runnerup and $50 each to the two semi-finalists.

Watches will be presented to the all-tournament team and a set of luggage will go to the most valuable player. Team trophies will be presented to the winner, runnerup and two semi-finalists, with individual trophies for members of the two teams gaining the championship game.

The sponsors will hold a buffet dinner on the final night for the teams who reach the semi-finals.

Assisting Wycoff with the tournament will be Jim (Sonny) Migliore of Midland, who is tournament director, and Homer (Tuffy) McVay, who will be in charge of program and tickets. Migliore has directed the Holiday Tournament in Midland the last five years.

Wycoff also announced that 10 per cent of the proceeds will be turned over to the Little Potters Basketball program.

Would Bring Top Talent . . .

THE FIRST entry received in the East Liverpool Basketball Classic was Johnson's Pontiac of Wellsville, which shows a strong array of talent from the college circles.

The team includes Neil Brayton and Gary Ward, both standout performers for the University of Maryland; Bob Dove, who was voted the most valuable player at Ohio State; Fred Albrecht, an all-Mid-American Conference selection from Kent State; and Youngstown University's Dave Culliver, Red Jones and Ron Allen. The officials indicated that Willie Somerset, former Duquesne star, Walt Mangham, former Marquette ace, and Ed Flemming, who was a standout at Niagara University, will appear in the tourney.

The tournament committee also is attempting to obtain topnotch officials and is seeking the services of Red Mihalik, one of the nation's foremost cage officials. Wycoff was instrumental in running a summer basketball program which brought some of the top college performers here to play at the First National Bank court.

Don Fullmer Favored In Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Fullmer is confident he can beat anyone in the middleweight division, including champion Dick Tiger. All he wants is the chance.

"Then we'll have another middleweight champ in the Cherry Hills, N.J., held the world championship. Tiger, of Nigeria, regained the championship from Giardello and defends it against welterweight ruler Emile Griffith at the Garden April 25.

beats Jose Gonzalez, the No. 1 contender in the World Boxing Association's rankings, at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Fullmer is ranked third but he has been made the 6-5 favorite in the 12-rounder, billed as an American middleweight title bout. Fullmer holds the title but he knows the crown has little value.

The Utah scrapper won the title when Joey Giardello, of Cherry Hills, N.J., held the world championship.

Tiger, of Nigeria, regained the championship from Giardello and defends it against welterweight ruler Emile Griffith at the Garden April 25.

DUKE STAR, Bob Verga, hospitalized earlier in the week with the flu, was on hand for practice at the Cole Fieldhouse Thursday and is expected to be in the Blue Devil lineup against Kentucky tonight in the NCAA tournament. (UPI Telephoto)

Warren Scores Regional Victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Warren Harding and Columbus East set the example Thursday night for determined Ohio high school basketball tournament trail survivors striving to avert the next-to-last pitfall en route to the state finals a week hence.

Warren and Columbus East joined Cleveland East and Lancaster, Wednesday regional semifinal winners, as Class AA finalists for a crack at the big show.

Tonight, it's basketball bombs away in a dozen games at seven sites.

Class AA regional semis go at Cincinnati (two games), Toledo (one) and Bowling Green (one). In Class A it's doubleheaders at Canton, Lima, Troy and Athens.

The winners move on to Saturday night's regional finals.

Warren Harding's 73-58 shellacking of Canton Lincoln means the fourth-ranked Panthers face Cleveland East's 1964 state runnerup Blue Bombers in the Kent title tilt.

At Columbus, the East caught Cambridge obviously stricken with "coliseum jitters" and it was no contest, 64-44. The Columbus team ran up a 31-11 halftime lead and made it 51-19 after three quarters.

Columbus East faces Lancaster in Saturday's Columbus climax.

Tonight's AA games are Elyria-Lima Shawnee, Toledo Liberty-Cleveland Adams, Springfield South-Middletown and Dayton Chaminade-Cincinnati Elder.

Class A pairings: Bridgeport-Dalton, Rittman-Kent State, Sandusky St. Mary-Holgate, Rossford-Celina IC, Batavia-Newark Catholic, Dixie-Yellow, Springs, West Muskingum-Ross Southeastern, Licking Valley-Portsmouth Clay.

Defeat Army, Villanova In Semi-Finals

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — 'Twas St. Patrick's Night in the National Invitation Tournament so maybe an itinerant leprechaun led Bruce Kaplan to the hunch that made him the hero of New York University's 69-63 semifinal victory over Villanova.

The Violets meshed and made it to Saturday's championship against Brigham Young after Kaplan asked for and got the job of guarding Villanova's explosive Bill Melchioni in the final minutes Thursday night.

Brigham Young had reached the final by whipping Army 66-60 in the opener of the double-header before a capacity crowd of 18,499 at Madison Square Garden.

NYU had suffered through an eight-minute scoring famine in the first half and left the floor trailing 32-27. "Our tempo was off," said Coach Lou Rossini. "We are taking bad shots."

Worse than that, NYU star Mal Graham, who had passed the 1,000-point career plateau early in the game, was in foul trouble with three personals.

Graham's backcourt partner, Richie Dyer, who had been guarding Melchioni in the first half, also had three personals.

But the Violets battled back with sophomore Charlie Silen and Kaplan sparking them and led 59-50 with seven minutes left when Graham finally fouled out. Two minutes later, Dyer drew his fourth personal with NYU's lead down to four. Then Kaplan made his move.

"I asked the coach to let me guard Melchioni after Dyer got his fourth. I knew if I could keep the ball away from him, we'd be all right," said Kaplan. Melchioni didn't get another point.

Kaplan was delighted that his hunch paid off so well. His 21 points led NYU and he dropped in four free throws in the last 40 seconds that wrapped it up but admitted that shutting out Melchioni those last five minutes "was much more satisfying."

Melchioni, who had 63 points in Villanova's first two tourney victories, finished with 17.

Steve Kramer, who played the last 17½ minutes with four personals, was the hero for Brigham Young. He scored four points in the final 35 seconds that ended Army's hopes and gave the top-seeded Cougars their victory.

BYU went 7½ minutes before it managed its first field goal and the Cadets took advantage of the cold spell to jump to a 14-2 lead. But Brigham Young battled back and trailed by only four, 31-27 at halftime.

Kramer and Dick Nemelka keyed the Cougars' second half attack but it was sub Jim Jimas who hit a pair of baskets with less than two minutes remaining that put BYU on top to stay.

Texas Western Only NCAA Team In Perfect Condition

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)

— Kentucky, a thin favorite, may have to bust up its starting line-up for the first time this season tonight when it takes on Duke in what could be the key game in the NCAA basketball championships.

Texas Western plays Utah in the second of the semifinals, with the survivors meeting Saturday for the national title copped the last two years by UCLA.

All of the semifinalists but Texas Western continued to complain of injuries and illness after their final tune-ups Thursday night, and the health, spirit and aggressiveness of the team from the far reaches of West Texas switched a lot of sentiment to the Miners.

Kentucky and Duke are the two top-ranked teams in the country whose match-up makes for one of the top games of the season.

Each has a major health problem, however. Duke's top scorer, Bob Verga, was released from the hospital Thursday morning after a bout with tonsillitis and is expected to be at less than full strength.

And Kentucky starter Larry Conley, a 6-foot-3 cornerman, is a doubtful starter after a touch of flu.

Utah takes a 23-6 record into its semi against deep, strong Texas Western, the nation's No. 3 team at 26-1.

All games are scheduled for television coverage by Sports Network, Inc.

Koufax And Drysdale Sign Contracts To Make Movie

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Buzze Bavasi, the general manager of the holdout-plagued Los Angeles Dodgers, lost two of his men Thursday, at least for the start of the season, when Sandy Koufax and teammate Don Drysdale signed contracts with Paramount Pictures.
Now, instead of heading for spring training where they would work the winter out of their arms, they will head for a movie studio.
"I guess that settles it," Bavasi said upon hearing that Koufax and Drysdale will make "Warning Shot" with David Janssen for two weeks starting April 4.
The players' attorney, William Hayes, said there are no escape clauses in the contracts, which means they will miss the start of the season April 12.
Drysdale will play a television commentator, and Koufax a detective. They are three-week holdouts who originally sought three-year contracts calling for $500,000 each. They said Wednesday they had made alter-

Clay Certain Of Fight And Draft, Board Reveals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Champion Cassius Clay was certain today of a March 29 heavyweight title fight with George Chuvalo.
And he was almost as sure he will be wearing Army green instead of boxing trunks shortly thereafter.
Selective Service Local Board 47 removed the last barrier to the fight Thursday when it gave the champion permission to leave the United States.
The fight is scheduled at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, and Clay classified 1-A, the top priority for induction into the Armed Services, had to have his local board's permission to leave the country. The permit expires April 17.
But the board, after hearing 35 minutes of testimony from Clay, reaffirmed its Feb. 17 action, when it reclassified Clay from 1-Y, draft exempt, to 1-A.
J. Allen Sherman, chairman of the board, said Clay, or Muhammad Ali, as he prefers to be called, claimed his Black Muslim religion should be grounds for deferment as a conscientious objector.
The only avenue left open for Clay to be deferred is a formal, written appeal. Sherman said the champion will have 10 days from notification of the board's action to appeal.

Colavito Believes Tribe Has Chance To Win Flag

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Cleveland's Rocky Colavito believes the Tribe has a chance to capture the American League pennant this season.
"We've got the ball club to do it," he said today. "This year we're ready."
Rocky begins his 11th full season with a career record of 328 home runs and 1,013 runs batted, but never has played with a pennant winner.
Noted as a slugger, Colavito didn't exhibit his usual power last season, yet Manager Birdie Tebbetts termed him an improved batter.
"He was tougher to get out

Snead Leads Citrus Open By 2 Strokes

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Sam Snead, feeling comfortable as an old slipper, knows he'll have to hustle today to keep his two stroke lead going into the second round of the $110,000 Citrus Open Golf Tournament.
"But I figure it'll give the younger fellers something to shoot at," he said in his easy West Virginia drawl.
The veteran of too many tournament wars to remember drew an early start in Thursday's first round with the "dew sweepers," and came home with an early lead of 33-33-66. It stood up as the younger and stronger players failed to match his performance.
Snead, who turns 54 May 27 and who has won more than 116 titles since going professional in 1937, joked with newsmen after finishing his round.

nate proposals but declined to reveal details.
Hayes, meanwhile, said the hurlers, who won 49 games between them last year, have been offered a 10-week tour of Japan starting in mid-June. It would pay in six figures plus a percentage of the gate at exhibitions and clinics.
The Dodgers Thursday broke a 19-inning scoreless string but still lost their fifth straight, a 4-3 decision to St. Louis.
Jim Lefebvre's three-run homer in the ninth inning snapped the string, but reliever Dennis Aust ended the game by getting pinch hitter Tommy Davis to hit into a double play.
Three Atlanta hurlers put together the best pitched game of the day, combining for a one-hit, 2-0 shutout over the Chicago White Sox. Ken Berry got the only hit, a third-inning single off Denny Lemaster. Ken Johnson and Joe Cisterna held the Sox hitless through the last five innings.
Denny McLain and Bill Monbouquette teamed up for a three-hitter in Detroit's 1-0 triumph over Cincinnati. Jim Northrup tripled in the sixth and scored on Don Demeter's single.

San Francisco remained the only unbeaten team, clobbering California 13-1 behind a 20-hit attack. Rookie catcher Bob Barton lashed a double, a triple and two singles while Gaylord Perry, Joe Gibbon and Lindy McDaniel stymied the Angels.
Minnesota, on the other hand, finally won a game after seven losses. The American League champion Twins downed the New York Yankees 5-1 with Harmon Killebrew and Don Mincher hitting successive homers in the second inning.
Boog Powell cracked two homers and Frank Robinson and Sam Bowers one each as Baltimore thumped Washington 7-2, while Tom Reynolds homered in the ninth, lifting Kansas City past Pittsburgh 3-2, and Rusty Staub belted a three-run homer in Houston's 7-2 victory over Boston.
Roberto Pen panned six hits as the Chicago Cubs trimmed Cleveland 8-6, and Philadelphia battled the New York Mets to a 15-inning, 3-3 deadlock.

Local Board 47, said an appeal would be made through the local board, which would forward it to Kentucky's Western Judicial Circuit Appeal Board. Clay would not appear again, she said, because a registrant is forbidden by law to do so.
Clay's attorney, Edward W. Jacko of New York, indicated the board's decision will be appealed, but he said no action will be taken until Clay is notified officially of the board's action.
Presumably an appeal would be based on religion.
If Clay appeals the classification, he is almost certain not to be included in the April call. A registrant cannot be inducted while his appeal is pending.
But Miss Green said Clay might be ordered to report for re-examination in spite of an appeal. If the 1-A status stands, eventual induction is almost assured, since Clay is 24 years old and single.
She said Clay probably will be required to undergo only a physical examination, since his score on pre-induction mental aptitude tests satisfies current Army standards.
Clay twice made below the minimum on the mental tests. But, due to manpower needs in Viet Nam, the Army dropped its standards below Clay's scores.

and got real big hits at critical times," Tebbetts said. "So he was better."
His .287 batting average was his best since his .284 in 1961 and he belted 26 homers. Plus that, he posted a perfect fielding average in the 162 games.
During the past few seasons Colavito has concentrated on improving his batting.
"Pitchers were throwing me a lot toward the outside that were hard to pull," said the right-handed batter. "So I worked on better bat control, hitting to the opposite field and to center."
"The way I look at it, if they give me a space to hit into, that's what I'm going to do. Pitchers are going to make mistakes sometimes and that's when you try to jump on it to hit the long ball."
Rocky's fielding performance set an American League record and tied the major league mark.
"I was proud of that fielding record," Colavito said. "Yet I know it took an element of luck. There are so many times when the ball can take a bad bounce and hit you on the arm, or you make a good throw and hit a runner."

Stockholder Of Cubs Sues To Get Lights

CHICAGO (AP) — When Bill Shlensky was 14 his father gave him two shares of Chicago Cubs stock. That was 13 years ago.
As a stockholder, Shlensky filed suit Thursday to force Philip K. Wrigley and other Cub directors to install lights in Wrigley Field.
Shlensky, an attorney for the Chicago and North Western Railroad, asked Circuit Court to order Wrigley and other directors to:
Install lights in Wrigley Field, schedule night games there, and reimburse stockholders for losses incurred by previous failure to implement these two items.
Shlensky contended that the failure to install lights in Wrigley Field had caused loss of revenue through decrease in attendance with resultant loss of gate and concession receipts. Consequently, he contended, there is a reluctance to spend money for player development and procurement, resulting in poor teams and further revenue loss.
He said the stock is worth about $330 to $350 a share since Leo Durocher was named manager. Last year it was worth only $250.
He said there are about 10,000 shares in all and that he understood Wrigley controlled 8,000 of them. The other 2,000 are divided among 300 shareholders.
From Long Beach, Calif., Wrigley told the Chicago Tribune that "It seems that anyone has a right to sue on anything these days, but we still have no plans for night baseball in Wrigley Field."

Owner's Fine Suspended

'Susan' Given Probation After Court Appearance

"Susan," probably East Liverpool's best-known dog, was placed on probation, in effect, today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after he found her owner guilty of permitting her to run at large on Feb. 22.

In a case that stirred more interest than any the judge has heard in months, the long-haired collie-type dog was paraded to the bench so the court could satisfy itself that she was not "vicious," an attempt to refute the claim that she jumped on a youngster the day in question at a door at Westgate School.

In a 30-minute hearing this morning that was a continuation of the initial phase of the case Thursday, Judge Chertoff issued a ruling in which he found that Mrs. Joyce Morrow of 760 Woodlawn Ave. was guilty of permitting the pet to run at large.

"SUSAN" WAS the star of the courtroom drama this morning, which included a warning from the judge that he would cite one of the defense witnesses for contempt for talking out of turn.

"I have observed 'Susan' and I find that she is a well-mannered, well-behaved dog," the judge commented as part of his ruling. He emphasized that the allegation that the dog "jumped on" the Westgate pupil was not part of the charge and pointed out that a result that part of the testimony was not considered.

He fined Mrs. Morrow $10 and costs on the charge of permitting "Susan" to run at large.

"But the fine will be suspended on condition that in the future the dog is not allowed to run at large," the judge said. "She must be kept at home—inside—and treated with tender, loving care. Otherwise I will have to turn her over to the warden for his disposal—to be adopted in another home or destroyed. And I certainly would hate to see that happen."

The prosecution's side of the case was introduced yesterday, along with part of the defense. The judge continued the hearing until today to allow Mrs. Morrow to present additional defense witnesses.

Curtis Shanks of Lincoln Ave., a brother of Mrs. Morrow, was the first to testify. He said the dog was locked in the sunporch at his home all day Feb. 21 and 22 "and I don't see how she could have gone to school and bitten a child."

Roger Morrow, 11, a fourth-grader at Westgate, testified next on "Susan's" behalf. He corroborated his uncle's story that the dog was confined on the sunporch.

WESTGATE teachers testified yesterday that Roger's brother, Randy, 7, had identified the dog at Westgate as "Susan." Roger said Randy was mistaken. It was a dog that looked like "Susan," but it was not "Susan," he said. Questioned further by the court, Roger said "Susan" is "a good dog."

When Roger left the witness stand, he led "Susan" toward the bench. Shanks, seated in the audience, commented that the court could observe the dog was not vicious. The judge warned Shanks against improper courtroom behavior and told him a second offense would lead to a citation for contempt.

Mrs. Morrow's mother was next to take the stand, but declined to give her name. The court told her to leave the stand, as he could not listen to an "anonymous" witness. Then she said her name is Mrs. Shanks. She called "Susan" a "wonderful dog, everyone's friend."

Summing up for the prosecution, Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark said he believes "this whole thing has been blown out of context by the defendant and her family." He pointed out that Mrs. Morrow "is only charged with permitting the dog to run at large."

Then he clarified statements attributed to him yesterday that there was a "vendetta" between the defendant and the prosecuting witnesses.

"I was misunderstood yesterday," Clark said. "These people believe the school teachers have something personally against them. I don't think that's true. They have a responsibility for keeping dogs away from the school. They called the parents, but there was no cooperation. Then the dog warden was called."

Clark said he had not implied there was a feeling of "vendetta" on the part of the school teachers or authorities.

"These people (the defendants) have the attitude the world is against them, but that is not true," he said.

IN A LENGTHY opinion, Judge Chertoff pointed out that the defense for "Susan" was what the law calls an alibi—that she could not be guilty because she was at another place at the time in question.

"Most of the defense testimony was on the nature and character of the dog," he said. "I believe 'Susan' is a good dog."

"You seem to think the teachers have it in for you," he told Mrs. Morrow. "Believe me, that's the last thing in their minds. They're too busy with their pupils and all their other responsibilities. I feel they do a remarkable job for what they get paid."

Commissioners Obtain Form For Airport Aid

LISBON — The Columbiana County commissioners Thursday noted receipt of a form from the Ohio Division of Aviation for a preliminary application for funds for the proposed county airport.

The application was sent to the commissioners by Ernest P. Webb of the division which is under the Department of Commerce.

Under the form, the applicant is to request funds not to exceed $100,000 "for purposes of constructing all, or part of the following airport facilities: runways, including grading and drainage; taxiways; lights, and ramps."

Earlier this month, the Columbiana County Airport Authority chose the Swaney Field near Glenmoor as the site for the proposed airport.

In other action, the commissioners adopted a resolution by Joe D. Pittman and Robert Lewis of the Cooperative Extension Service that June 15 to July 15 be observed as Soil Test Month in cooperation with the Soil Test Committee of the extension service.

They accepted a bid of $1,250 for electrical work by Earl Keslar of 614 S. Main St., Columbiana, as part of remodeling operations at the Hill Building in Lisbon, which is being purchased by the county as headquarters for the Welfare Department.

Approved by the commissioners was a request by the Knox Township trustees to purchase a motor grader for $25,000, less trade-in.

A $300 slag grant to the Yellow Creek Township trustees also was approved.

St. Clair's Trustees To Act On Stop Signs

Requests for stop signs on side streets in the Oakmont area and improvement of the Sprucevale Rd. are being considered by St. Clair Township trustees.

At a meeting this week, trustees also approved slag for Dyke St.

Don Parsons reported on Civil Defense activities and the police report for February was received.

The report showed township police investigated 10 domestic complaints and a juvenile case, recovered a stolen car and issued 5 traffic violations.

Police also aided at two fires and assisted the State Highway Patrol with seven collisions.

In New York, one of the world's leading tourist centers, business visitors spend over $300 million a year and account for about 35 per cent of hotel room occupancy.

Youths Hurt In Accident Near Lisbon

Two Lisbon area youths were injured when their motorscooter collided with a car driven by a city man on Route 30 about four miles south of Lisbon Thursday afternoon.

James Herbert Hicks, 16, and Jack Barrett, 15, both of Lisbon R.D. 2, were taken to Salem City Hospital with abrasions after the mishap.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said George Aronson, 55, of 2300 St. Clair Ave. was headed south in a 1966 convertible and was attempting to pass the southbound motorscooter when Hicks, the driver, made a left turn and the scooter struck the side of the car.

The mishap, which occurred at 5:10 p. m., is still under investigation, officers said.

Weirton Officer Reinstated After Lengthy Hearing

WEIRTON — Police Officer Kerr was reinstated following a 4½-hour hearing here Thursday night before the Police Civil Service Commission in the City Building.

The reinstatement was based on a unanimous vote by the three commission members, Arthur Miser Jr., Dr. Eli Weller and Eli Mraovich.

Kerr, who served as police court clerk, was suspended from the force March 1 on charges of "failure to obey a lawful order of his superior, the chief of police, and for laxity in performance of his duties."

Suspension came after an audit of the police clerk's court accounts disclosed there was a shortage of $9,405.50.

According to the charges, the shortage was a direct result of Kerr failing to obey Chief Edward Frankovitch's order to make daily deposits of all money received from fines with the city cashier.

Motorist Cleared In Traffic Case

A city youth was cleared of a traffic charge in County Judge Herbert Arfman's court at East Palestine Thursday, while three other motorists were penalized.

Peter Manning of Highland Colony, charged with failure to yield the right of way, was found not guilty and released.

Donald Minear of R.D. 1 was fined $15 and costs for failure to wear glasses as specified in his license.

George F. Heller of Rogers, charged with driving left of center, did not appear and a bench warrant was issued.

John Knight of East Palestine and Edward J. Anderson of 328 E. North Ave., East Palestine, were fined $15 and costs for speeding.

Beaver Will Receive $5,000 To Aid Aged

Beaver County will receive $5,000 of a total of $143,674 in a program announced today by Gov. Scranton at Harrisburg to encourage community services for the aging.

It involves Philadelphia and 27 counties in the state.

The allocations are for this calendar year and are to help older persons in their own homes and communities instead of sending them to institutions.

Grants are being made for programs including foster home care, counseling and referral service, senior citizen activity centers, homemaker services, and community organizers.

The subsidy program is administered by the Department of Public Welfare.

Man Given Jail Term On Theft, Intoxication

A man identified as George Leeson of Warren was sentenced to a 30-day County Jail term today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a charge he stole a pint bottle of wine late Thursday afternoon at Al's Atlantic Service Station on E. 3rd St.

Leeson also was remanded to County Jail in default of a fine of $50 and costs on an intoxication charge. The judge ordered the two terms will run consecutively — one beginning after the other has been served.

Police said Leeson was apprehended at 4:49 p.m. by Al Gloeckner, operator of the service station, which has a carry-out permit for beer and wine. Gloeckner turned Leeson over to Patrolman Karl Samples.

Bows To Army Leaders

Sukarno Allows Military To Hold Cabinet Pro-Red

SINGAPORE (AP) — Bowing to army leader, President Sukarno of Indonesia allowed First Deputy Premier Subandrio and 14 other pro-Communist Cabinet ministers to be taken into military custody today.

Lt. Gen. Suharto, the army strongman, then announced over Radio Jakarta the temporary appointment of new Cabinet ministers to replace them.

Informed sources in Singapore said Subandrio, object of anti-Communist student demonstrations the past few weeks, had not been dismissed from his Cabinet posts but that this is only a question of time.

Radio Jakarta had reported earlier that acting on Sukarno's orders the armed forces had taken Subandrio, 14 other pro-Communist ministers into "protective custody" to "prevent them from becoming victims of the Indonesian people, who were becoming restless and uncontrollable."

Diplomatic observers in Singapore said Sukarno, 64, who had stubbornly resisted the mounting opposition to Subandrio and other pro-Communist in the Cabinet, had lost the last round of his battle for power with the anti-Communist military leaders.

"Sukarno is finished," one observer said.

Jakarta Radio said the detention order was issued "to maintain peace and stability in the country." It was issued by Sukarno but signed by Lt. Gen. Suharto, the radio said. Suharto is the army chief who took over

Mother Receives Six-Month Term For Child Abuse

CLEVELAND (AP) — The mother of a girl who said she was locked up in a closet "almost every night" was sentenced to six months in the workhouse Thursday.

Mrs. Erlene Conway, 30, was found guilty of neglect in juvenile court Wednesday in the mistreatment of her daughter, Saroya, 7.

Vernon D. Jones, 38, received a suspended 6-month sentence after he agreed to pay $500 into juvenile court for Saroya's treatment by a psychiatrist, if needed.

Jones was found guilty of child abuse. He admitted punishing the girl on two occasions at the request of her mother and said he used a switch and a cotton belt.

The youngster had told the court that she was locked in the closet almost every night and made to sleep on a board.

Iron Bar Mishap Proves Fatal To 2 In Septic Tank

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—An iron bar, accidentally dropped into a septic tank, cost the lives of two men Thursday, and left a third in critical condition.

Dead are Nicholas L. Sneed, 33 Sandusky, and Robert L. Livermore, 32, Bay View. In critical condition at a hospital was Ray B. Noble, 49, also of Bay View.

Sheriff's deputies said Sneed had finished pumping out a septic tank at Noble's home when he dropped the bar and climbed into the five-foot deep tank to retrieve it. He was overcome by deadly methane gas. Noble, who was helping Sneed, climbed into the tank to rescue Sneed and was overcome.

Livermore, a volunteer fireman, was called by neighbors but was overcome, too. Noble responded to resuscitator treatment.

Robinson Jr. Sued In Unborn Child Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Edward G. Robinson Jr., son of the veteran film star, has been named defendant in a suit filed by a waitress, asking that he be declared the father of her unborn child.

Miss Lucille Kass, 27, complained Thursday that Robinson, 32, an actor, has refused to provide financial support and medical assistance. She said the younger Robinson is worth about $250,000.

The complaint also suggested that the twice-divorced actor be ordered to pay support of $360 a month pending trial.

A hearing was set for next April 7. Miss Kass said her baby is expected in June.

Gift To University

CLEVELAND (AP) — Timken Roller Bearing Co. has announced a gift of $30,000 to John Carroll University. The money will be used for the university's proposed science center.

Whites and yolks of eggs separate more easily if eggs are allowed to remain at room temperature about 5 minutes before using.

Junior Editors Quiz on CARROTS

QUESTION: Do carrots help your eyesight?

ANSWER: Certainly not in the fanciful way our artist has suggested in our upper picture. However, when used as food along with the group of other foods shown, carrots are of definite value in keeping your eyes healthy and sparkling, like those of the happy little girl in the center. The reason for this is that carrots and the other foods shown provide carotene, which the body can use to produce an extremely important material called Vitamin A.

Vitamins are complicated substances which must be present in our bodies if we are to stay healthy and well. There are a number of different kinds. The special help which Vitamin A gives to the eyes is to strengthen their ability to adjust to various light conditions, enabling us to see things at night as well as in the daytime. Vitamin A also helps in the production of new body cells and so is extremely important to children. Please don't get the idea that carrots or the Vitamin A foods alone are all you need to keep healthy; you must have other kinds, too. Nutritionists say that a well-rounded diet, with a number of different foods, is important, so as to provide all the vitamins and other substances which are necessary.

FOR YOU TO DO: Besides being healthful, carrots have a delicious taste. Many people enjoy eating them raw; you might like them that way too. Try one and see.

LINDA Fann of Cleveland, Tenn., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, March 18, the 77th day of 1966. There are 288 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1818, Congress passed the first pension act for veterans.
On this date
In 1837, the 22nd president of the United States - Grover Cleveland - was born in New Jersey.
In 1937, a gas explosion destroyed a school in New London, Tex., killing 455 pupils and teachers.
In 1940, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini conferred at the Brenner Pass.

In 1959, President Eisenhower signed legislation admitting Hawaii as the 50th state.
Ten years ago - The British governor of Cyprus said there would be no move to reopen negotiations on the question of self-government until Greek Cypriot terrorism was crushed.
Five years ago - Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Russian Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko met in Washington for the first top level American-Russian diplomatic meeting of the Kennedy administration.
One year ago - Russia launched its spaceship with two cosmonauts aboard. They stayed up seven days and one of them took man's first walk in space.

Dawson Announces Candidacy

Ohioville Man Makes Bid For Representative Post

F. Paul Dawson of Ohioville has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for election to the state House of representatives from the newly-created 13th Legislative District.

Dawson, 39, is serving his second term on Ohioville Borough Council, of which he is now president.

He has been assistant superintendent at the county maintenance unit of the state Highway Department for a year and a half and has been a partner in the Dawson and Hammond Service Station, Brighton Township, for 15 years.

He has been a GOP committeeman the last four years.

His memberships include New Salem Presbyterian Church and its board of trustees; Rochester Post, American Legion; Fairview Grange (past master), county Pomona grange and state and national granges.

He has served as a Little League manager and on a Boy Scout troop committee.

Dawson is the son of the late Frank and Ada Dawson. He is a graduate of Midland High School and a Navy veteran (Pacific Theater) of World War II.

He is married to the former Phyllis Hammond. They have two children, Barry, 14, and Kathy, 11.

He formerly was employed at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

In announcing his candidacy, Dawson said:

"Having been employed as a steelworker for 11 years I feel I can serve labor in dealing with its problems.

"Being a partner in a small business for the last 15 years in the district in which I seek this office I have become very familiar with the problems with which small businessmen must contend."

Quota Exceeded For Bloodmobile In Lisbon Visit

LISBON — Lisbon and surrounding area residents continued a record begun in July by exceeding the quota for the visit of the Northern Ohio Red Cross bloodmobile.

They contributed 126 pints Wednesday, exceeding the quota by one pint.

The largest number of donors ever to appear at a Lisbon collection — 154 — appeared at the Methodist Church. However, physicians deferred 38 because of colds or flu.

Louis J. Raymond, chairman of the Northern District Red Cross blood program, who had conducted a six-hour appeal for donors, said "Lisbon deserves the greatest praise for an outstanding blood organization."

Mrs. Vance Brinker was chairman for the American Legion Auxiliary donor recruitment program. Mrs. Hazel Burp and Mrs. Evelyn Burson managed the canteen.

Mrs. Jayne Calhoun is blood program coordinator.

The bloodmobile will be at the United Steelworkers Hall on Prospect St. in Salem on April 27.

$25,000 Contributed For Geneva Program

BEAVER FALLS — Geneva College has received $25,000 from the Gulf Oil Corp. to be applied to the first five-year phase of the college's current 10-year $15 million development program.

The unrestricted contribution was part of the corporation's educational assistance program, which this year will distribute $2 million to students and institutions of higher education for scholarships and other aid-to-education purposes.

Altogether, grants totaling $745,000 are being awarded by Gulf this year.

Wellsville Sues Ex-Resident For Unpaid Accounts

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff is scheduled to hear an unusual civil case Friday, March 25, in which the City of Wellsville, as a municipal corporation, seeks to collect $216.20 from a former resident for alleged unpaid water and sewage service bills.

The defendant is Aaron Roach of 503½ Virginia Ave., East Liverpool, named in the petition as a former Wellsville resident.

The petition was filed in July 1965 on behalf of the municipality by William L. Bush, who was solicitor. It alleges that Roach owes $108.10 for water rent and $108.10 for sewage service rentals. It asks judgment for the amount allegedly due, plus court costs.

Richard J. Clark is counsel for the defendant.
